Fuel Used for Manufacture

cines Also Gets Preferred Status Under Order of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

STRIKES DISCUSSED AT CABINET SESSION

National Guardsmen Return Fire of Men in Ambush
When the State Opens Mines in Staunton, Ind., to Get Coal for Institutions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Bituminous coal for household use and for manufacture of foodstuffs, medicines and containers for foodstuffs and medicines was given priority status by Interstate Commerce Commission orders today, which amended the original orders declaring an emergency in transportation.
Members of President Harding's Cabinet took to today's meeting reports on the coal and railway strikes as gathered by their respective departments. The session, it was indicated, was given over almost wholly to a discussion of the situation in the two industries.
An effort to bring Government influence to bear upon coal mine operators who have been unwilling to attend the central competitive wage scale joint conference, which John L.
Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has proposed for Monday at Cleveland, with the support of some operators, is understood to have been the purpose of the visit here yesterday of Samuel Glasgow, general attorney for the union.
Glasgow held a prolonged interview with President Harding.
Glasgow is understood to have suggested that Illinois mine owners, who have so far refused to join the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' Association of Ohio and the scattering list of individuals in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana, who will meet as employers with the union, might be induced to change their position.
President Harding urged it. The Illinois operators are meeting today to consider their decision on Lewis' invitation.

SHOOTING FOLLOWS INDIANA'S ACTION IN OPENING MINES

By the Associated Press.
STAUNTON, Ind., Aug. 4.—The first hostilities with the taking over of mines by the State occurred today when national guardsmen on duty here were fired upon from an ambush.
The fire was returned by the guards and later the firing was taken up over the entire area.
Automatic rifles were brought into action by the troops and the firing continued for more than an hour.
Reports received by Major-General Robert Tyndall, in command of the troops said that no one was injured.
Troops, said, however, by some of the men on duty that one man was slightly injured.
Investigation by military officials indicated that although the firing lasted several hours, the attacking party was small. It was reported that several men from nearby towns came to this city and announced that they were going to "get a flock of soldiers." They fired on an outpost and the fire was returned immediately. As a result of this firing whenever there was any movement in the woods nearby, the guardsmen fired. Several men called upon to halt by the guards were fired upon when they failed to obey the guards' command.
Officers in command of the troops belittled the affair, saying that it was a minor skirmish. The situation was regarded as quiet despite the firing, which began shortly after midnight and continued until daybreak.
The troops last night were spread over an area of 40 to 20 miles, to control eight mining centers in four counties, as the first step in Government's plan to open the mines.

WOMAN IN RIVER ALL NIGHT SEEKING COURAGE TO END LIFE

Rescued by Two Negroes, She Said
Water Was "Too Deep"—Placed Under Observation Seen standing in the water up to her armpits in the Mississippi River at Rutger street at 6:45 a. m. today, Mrs. Ella Robinson, 59 years old, of 1216 South Third street, was brought ashore by two negro laborers and turned over to police of the Souldard street station.
She told policemen she had been in the water since 9 o'clock last night, having gone to the river to end her life because frequent quarrels, the last of which occurred yesterday, with neighbors, had made her desperate.
Hesitating because the "water was too deep," she had remained in the river all night seeking courage to drown herself, she said. She was taken to the city hospital for treatment for exposure and for observation.

MILLIONAIRES "CARRY GATS"

Need Them Because of Randit, John J. Mitchell Says.
CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Carrying in a part of life's routine in Lake Forest, where the millionaires live, John J. Mitchell Jr., once an aviator, now husband of the former Miss Louella Arnold, was arrested today for speeding. He was before Judge Michey and a pistol had been taken from him. "Why, all the fellows in our set carry gats," Mitchell Jr. testified. "Louis Swift, Phil Armour, everybody. We need them as protection against bandits. But I have a permit to carry one. I'm a deputy sheriff." And again he flashed the star which he had attempted to impress the motor cycle policeman who arrested him.
The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" after Mrs. Mitchell had corroborated her husband's testimony that they were registering only 25 miles an hour, instead of 32, as charged. Justice Michey, however, said he would look into the pistol carrying.

RAILWAYS REPORT STEADY INCREASE IN SHOP FORCES

Executives Declare That the Western Roads Added 15,259 Workers Between July 25 and Aug. 2.

SPECULATION AS TO NEXT PEACE MOVE

Word From President Harding Awaited—Both Sides Maintain Former Attitudes on Seniority Question.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Developments in the railroad shopmen's strike are confined to speculation as to what the next peace move will be and reports of violence from various points in the last 24 hours.
Union officers today are awaiting word from President Harding regard to their message accepting his proposals for ending the walkout.
Railroad executives and strike leaders maintain their former attitudes on the question of seniority.
Striking shopmen of the Southern Railway in Richmond, Va., in a meeting today to discuss the company's proposition to re-employ striker without prejudice to their seniority rights, announced that no action would be taken until word was received from headquarters in Chicago.
Two Deaths From Violence.
Two deaths resulted from violence: one in Edgemoor, S. D., where a switchman of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy was shot, and one in Chicago, where a carpenter employed in the Illinois Central shops was beaten to death.
Western railroads with headquarters in Chicago added 15,259 shopmen to their forces between July 25 and Aug. 2, a statement issued by the Western Presidents' Committee on Public Relations of the Association of Railway Executives said. On July 25, the statement said, western roads had 43,901 men in their shops and on Aug. 2 the number was 59, 760. The daily increase of men returning to work or being hired, the statement said, ranged between 1000 and 2000 men.
Despite widespread rumors of a settlement of the railway shopmen's strike prior to the action of the executives at New York and on a basis which would ignore the rights of local employees and involve the discharge of the new men who have been hired to take the place of strikers, the statement said, "all of the western roads, whose headquarters are in Chicago, today reported a steady increase in the number of men at work in their shops during the first two days of August, when these rumors were being circulated." Adequate Service Given.
The strike, the statement said, is having "practically no effect upon the ability of the carriers to render adequate freight and passenger service."
The fact that practically all of the western roads have been able to meet their traffic demands has resulted in the careful selection of new employees, the statement concludes,
"the roads accepting only those men who give satisfactory indications of becoming permanent and useful employees."
The executives of western roads, returning from the meeting in New York, which on Tuesday rejected President Harding's proposal to restore seniority to striking shopmen, said that the President's suggestions were impossible of acceptance.
A. G. Wells, vice president of the Santa Fe, said he had never seen "such concentrated unanimity as was expressed at the New York meeting."

GIANT GAS WELL FILLS VALLEY WITH GAS AND HALTS TRAINS

Traffic on Frisco Is Held Up in Oklahoma and Automobiles Can't Be Used.
By the Associated Press.
BRISTOW, Okla., Aug. 4.—A giant gas well, estimated to be making 30,000,000 feet of gas per hour and spraying 50 barrels of oil hourly, is holding up all passenger and freight traffic over the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad between here and Kellville and delaying all traffic between Tulsa and Oklahoma City.
The well is but 150 feet from the railway tracks, and has filled the valley for more than a mile around with gas. Railway officials fear the operation of trains would ignite the explosive gas and cause a disastrous fire.
A large force of men is at work in an effort to shut in the well and oil men express belief that, barring emergencies, it will be under control in time for rail and motor traffic to resume late this afternoon.
Meanwhile several trains are held here and others are detained at Kellville. Passengers cannot be transferred by automobile because of the danger which would be encountered in the firing of the motor's exhaust.
The giant well, which is in wildcat territory more than a mile northwest of the present continental pool, came in early last night.

REED NOMINATION ANOTHER SIGNIFICANT VICTORY FOR PEOPLE, LA FOLLETTE SAYS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 4.
The nomination of Senator James A. Reed in Missouri is another significant victory for the people," said Robert M. La Follette, senior Senator from Wisconsin, a statement today. "It reflects the resentment of the voters against party bosses and party domination."

"Senator Reed's conspicuous position against the League of Nations was an indication of the people's attitude toward the patriotic and successful fight indicates the approval of the voters of Missouri on his stand upon this question," the statement said. "The status of the Senator in part follows."
"During the debate upon the 1921 revenue bill in the Senate, Reed was one of the prominent leaders of the Democratic opposition to the bill reported by the Republican finance committee. He made a splendid fight to continue the excess profits tax upon the great corporations for the purpose of paying the war debt. It is estimated that the excess profits tax of corporations last year amounted to near-$500,000,000 and Reed's struggle to continue this tax upon these corporations was a splendid effort to make every effort to defeat him in Missouri."
"One of the important issues in the Reed campaign was his stand for the repeal of the radical amendment of the Esch-Cummins law. His renomination is another indication of the hostility of the people toward this special class legislation for the benefit of the railroad corporations."
"The four-power pact was bitterly opposed by Senator Reed and his stand upon this treaty was one of his points of argument against him. It is only fair to say that his victory is a registration of the people's adherence to the traditional policy of Washington against entering into entangling alliances with foreign countries."

CADDIES STRIKE FOR RIGHT TO PLAY GOLF ON MONDAYS

Walkout Follows Denial of Use of St. Clair Links After Scuffling.
Sixty caddies of the St. Clair Country Club, between Belleville and East St. Louis, say they will caddy no more unless they may also golf.
The caddies, heretofore, have had the privilege of using the links on Monday, when there is no caddying to be done. Last week it was observed that the greens were considerably scuffed and the caddies were notified when they appeared Monday that hereafter their talents would be employed only in caddying.
They held an indignation meeting, in which it was resolved that if anybody was to be denied the use of the links it would have to be the club members, because the caddies never would submit to it. They stuck, and until last this afternoon they refused to do their own caddyng. Yesterday they received information that the House Committee would take up their grievance Monday and returned to their duties, pending a possible adjudication at that meeting.
There is no wavering, however, in their determination to insist upon their rights. Six days will they follow the members and demand that the members and their play, but on the seventh they must do some real golfing.

STATE TO LOOK INTO ALLEGED VOTING FRAUDS IN THE COUNTY

Attorney-General Will Proceed at Once, Under Gov-

Charges of Wholesale Irregularities.

'TO SPARE NO EFFORT TO PUNISH OFFENDERS'

Action Taken Upon Demand of Indignant Voters Who Declare Election Was Stolen; Defeated Candidates Urged to Contest.

Attorney-General Barrett this afternoon announced at Jefferson City that he would conduct an investigation of allegations of fraud in the primary election in St. Louis County last Tuesday, acting under authorization from Gov. Hyde.
The Attorney-General made the following statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter over long-distance telephone, following a conference he had with the Governor:
"At the moment I am without definite information, but as soon as details regarding the charges in St.
Louis County reach me, they will get the fullest consideration. If fraud has been committed it must be punished vigorously."
Further information awaited.
The new primary election law ought to make it possible for any violation to be so treated as to stand as an example in the future.
This office will spare no effort to bring offenders to justice. Of course I expect the fullest co-operation of the St. Louis County authorities.
Further steps await receipt of communications from the Clean Election Committee at East St. Louis, and more information. I hope all persons having information about frauds will see that such information reaches the proper hands."
There was fighting nearly all of Wednesday night in Genoa between Fascists and Arditi. The number of casualties is not known. After restoring order troops occupied the headquarters of the Arditi, where they found explosives, bombs and revolvers, and arrested 40 persons.
Bands of Fascists arrived in Genoa from Turin, Milan, Pavia and Perugia to help their comrades.

building in Milan by the Fascists climbed upon the building and streets and cries of "Down with socialism," "Viva Italy."

LACLED GAS DIVIDEND REPORT SENDS COMMON STOCK UP $1

Company Indicates It Will Resume

Quarterly on Sept. 15.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The Laclede Gas Light Co. today indicated its intention to resume its payment of dividends on common stock, paying 1 1/2 per cent as a quarterly dividend on Sept. 15. As a consequence the stock rose $1 a share to 8 1/2 early today.
The last payment of dividend is on Laclede Gas Light common stock was in March, 1919. Since that time the company frequently has appeared before the Missouri Public Service Commission asking for rate increases, or quality modifications equivalent to a reduction in production costs. One of the latter applications now is pending before the commission.

Text of Resolutions Condemning Conduct of Primary in County

RESOLUTIONS bitterly condemning the conduct of the primary election in St. Louis County Tuesday, urging punishment of election crooks, contents of nominations and ultimate reforms, were adopted by the Clean Election Committee in mass meeting at Clayton last night, as follows:
"We, as citizens of St. Louis County, in mass meeting assembled for the purpose of protesting against fraudulent methods in conducting the recent, primary election, condemn as unfair, un-American and destructive of good government the methods practiced in the election.
"We condemn the action of the members of our County Court in refusing to comply with the urgent request of a similar meeting last Friday to remove all unqualified election officers to whom their attention was then and there directed by members of said meeting, and we condemn them for the appointment of other unqualified election officers to serve in other precincts.
"We deplore the reputation the county has achieved by lawlessness, gambling and other crimes and this crime against the ballot, so serious as to endanger good government. We have witnessed at the recent primary the most glaring outrages against the ballot.
"We ask the Judges of the County Court to explain why, with as many good citizens as we have in this county, they had to resort to nonresidents and others of questionable character to act as judges of election. We demand to know why, after attention was called to the unfitness of many judges of election they appointed, that they did not take steps to rectify this and appoint decent and reputable citizens.
"Has it come to pass in defiance of our laws that gambling not only continues to be openly carried on, but the gamblers have been so bold and some of our county officers so derelict and defiant as to permit their satellites to conduct our election? In 1874 the citizens of St. Louis County became so disgusted with the actions of the County Court that the executive management of the city was taken out of the hands of the County Court by separating the city from the county. Shall history now repeat itself? Shall we be compelled to escape the evils of county government by resorting to annexation?
"Resolved, that the Constitutional Convention be urged to insert a provision in the Constitution for registration in St.
Louis County and for an Election Board.
"Resolved, that the Attorney-General be requested to take steps to punish those guilty of fraud in the election.
"Resolved, that all good citizens should come to the rescue and assist candidates who would contest the election, and we recommend that all candidates who were cheated out of their rights should institute contests, and we hereby pledge them our hearty support."

REED 6497 IN LEAD; 202 PRECINCTS TO REPORT

Returns on Republican Contest Being Received Slowly and Latest Reports Fail to Change Indication That Brewster Will Have Large Plurality.

REED IN ST. LOUIS WITHHOLDS COMMENT

Long Hopeful and Some of His Friends Think Apparent Results May Be Changed When Absentee Votes Are Tabulated.

Returns from 3558 precincts of the State, giving Senator James A.
Reed 189,985 votes and Breckinridge Long 185,424 in their contest for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate in the primary of last Tuesday, indicate that the precincts yet to be heard from will not seriously impair Reed's lead of 6497 votes, but rather will give a probable plurality for the Senator somewhat in excess of 1000 votes.
Returns on the Republican contest for the same nomination are being received slowly. There is nothing in the few precincts which have been reported in the last 24 hours to change the prediction previously made that R. R. Brewster of Kansas City is the nominee. Standing of the six candidates on a basis of 1826 out of 3558 precincts is as follows:
Brewster, 74,695.
Sacks, 64,104.
Harrett, 32,324.
McKinley, 24,809.
Proctor, 24,538.
Parker, 10,893.
Reed Silent on Results.
Senator Reed, who is in St. Louis today, declined to comment upon any phase of the election, but in a published statement by Representative Vincente Llanes of the Philippine Legislature.
Llanes was a member of the Philippine independent mission which has just returned from the United States. He is a representative of the First District in the insular House of Representatives.
Llanes suggested the way to "awaken the American nation to the situation here" was non-co-operation by resignation of all Filipinos now holding positions in the insular Government and the refusal of others to accept the positions left vacant.

LAME HEN POINTS OUT MOLES

Biddy Aids Owner in Destroying Pests on Lawn.

Socialist in Post-Dispatch.
DANBURY, Conn., Aug. 4.—Judge C. Edmund Mason of this city has a hen that points moles like a dog. Already she has caused the death of four ground moles digging up the lawn.
The hen is pitted as an invaluable. Having broken a leg several months ago, she limps about the place.
A few mornings ago Mrs. Mason saw the hen gazing at the ground and not moving. She walked out and saw that Biddy was watching a mole working along the ground.
Judge Mason got a spading fork and killed the mole. Since that time he has killed three other moles with the assistance of the pointing hen.

WINTER STYLES ANICE SKATING AT FASHION PAGEANT

Exhibition by Company of Eight Skaters Chief Novelty of Program Marked by Entertainment.

WITH ONE SCENE

Unusual Color and Costume Splendor Feature Style Displays—Capacity Crowd at Opening.

The entertainment phases inserted originally into the Pageant of Fashion given annually in the Forest Park open-air theater as a sort of pacifying concession to the male essentials of the style-curious, apparently have outgrown this and other obscurer utilitarian functions.
If, in the first years of the pageant, the dance and other episodes, which chiefly dance, were created and prolonged to that of time needed by the models for a transformation from summer airiness to winter ensembles, the eighth annual show, which opened last night, by the diversity and worth of its entertainment, has reversed the trend. Or,
it has established a parity, at least,
between the gowns and their wearers, and the entertainers and their entertainment.

The chief novelty of the program is a skating exhibition by a company of eight, seven of whom are women.
The company skates a solo, duet, trio and ensemble program of considerable length with that accentuated rhythm peculiar to ice skating.
In addition, several members, notably the solitary male, follow out the intricacies of complex figure skating with great sureness and precision.

Similar exhibitions, by reason of the elaborateness of preparation needed, have not been common in this climate, a fact that reflected itself in the unusual vigor of the large audience's applause, particularly of an Eva Tanguay exhibition of eccentric skating by a feminine performer.

Bicycle Act on Program.

The program has been further diversified by the introduction of Joe Jackson's familiar bicycle act, the first injection of simon-pure vaudeville into a fashion show program.
The phrase "bicycle act" may carry some apprehensions to those familiar with the usual rule of the bicycle act, who do not ride; he only tries to scoot—and with broad comedy. The wisdom of the Jackson act is that it is placed to afford allevia-tion at about the point where the audience showed some restlessness.

The entire pageant is shown with one scene—a garden to which all entrances made from the top of a 20-foot wall at the stage rear door, long stairways at either side, a decent that sorely tries some of the models.

The Fashion Pageant.

The opening scene, designated "Spring Blossoms," introduces this year's solo dancers, Melissa Ten Eyck and Max Welly, taken from the professional stage. They appear again in the second scene, "Summer Soles," assisted by a ballet of 10 local dancers and 12 young women, who dance a minuet. The soloists rely heavily upon their agility and grace, which often requires Herculean exhibitions of strength on the part of Welly, accomplished with considerable grace.

Audiences in the Municipal Theater have come to expect a show of unusual color and costume splendor.
The third scene is the Fashion Show response to this expectation—an ensemble of about 50 young women in agradual costumes, which gas halloo-ing which they ultimately release into the night air. The scene is entitled "Autumn Follies." The frivolity is broken upon by the entrance of an enormous monster of the sea—peasant species, about 40 feet long with a girth of 15 to 18 feet, and a ferocious horned head, rolling green eyes and a mouth which opens and closes voraciously. This monster crawls the width of the stage, and miraculously turns and makes an exit without mishap. However, a slight imperfection in the camouflage appearing, betrayed a human-like about its locomotion that served to allay whatever qualms its appearance might have occasioned.

The skating was introduced as the "Winter Sports Episodes." As last year, the closing act was "Oen-Nympha," 15 siren-like young women rising from the water to the bewildering of many in the audience not familiar with the stagecraft that makes such an entrance possible.
The "Nympha" all St. Louis young women swimmers, frolicked about and off diving boards at either end of the tank which filled the orchestra pit of the theater, until Father Nephty, his trident spouting fire, rose from the water and beckoned them back to the depths.

There are two orchestras for the show, the action demanding uninterrupted playing for two and one-half hours. They are stationed about the walls that flank either side of the stage, one of symphonic quality, the other of jazz, which seemed more than usually malevolent by reason of the contrast.

Last night's audience-filled every chair in the theater, which has a seating capacity of 3270. It was stated that this was the largest opening night audience for any Municipal theater event. The performance will continue nightly, except Sunday, through Aug. 16.

STYLES SHOWN AT THE FASHION PAGEANT

Sketched for the Post-Dispatch
By MARGUERITE MARTYN

Skirts a Bit Longer, Freak Styles Apparently Taboo, Fashion Pageant Shows

Black and Soft Pastel Tones Most in Evidence—Amount of Drapery Employed Is Most Distinctive Note.

By Marguerite Martyn.

THE new fall fashions as presented at the Pageant of Fashion by St. Louis garment manufacturers and milliners on beautiful models to their great out-of-town trade offer no severely radical changes.

This is not saying that the styles are not more beautiful than ever.
Indeed, the absence of freak styles, the fact that sometimes are hard to accept at first sight, is a welcome change in itself. And there are enough new as well as pleasing notes to satisfy the searcher after novelty.
The new styles are introduced gradually, though they are not sweeping the streets as we may have been led to fear. Ten inches from the ground is the average length of the suit skirts, though sports skirts may be shorter. The skirts of afternoon and evening gowns behave as if they had not made up their minds whether to be long or short and are compromising with many loose panels and points dipping down below the skirt hem, occasionally trailing upon the ground.

Probably the most distinctive note in the new fashions is the amount of drapery employed. The new styles are introduced gradually, though they are not sweeping the streets as we may have been led to fear. Ten inches from the ground is the average length of the suit skirts, though sports skirts may be shorter. The skirts of afternoon and evening gowns behave as if they had not made up their minds whether to be long or short and are compromising with many loose panels and points dipping down below the skirt hem, occasionally trailing upon the ground.

Black Predominating Color.

Black is the predominating color of the new fashions, relieved of-times with only a brilliant jet girdle, though frequently a sharp note of color is introduced. An oddity favored by many of the manufacturers is an undersleeve and light cuff of scarlet. A number of the suits and gowns repeated this idea. Its association with memories of red flannel underwear is inevitable just at first.

While many of the gowns are black, on the other hand, many of the suits assume soft, unaccustomed pastel tones. Periwinkle blue, subtitled to what are more recently termed tile and sordid blue; burnt orange, in shades, mottled brown, caramel, beige, grape, mignonette green—in these softly modified shades and in many soft grays, the suits present themselves.

Coats are neither long nor short, about 36 inches generally. Many of them have strip belts and many others are fastened only with a single clasp at the throat. Practically all suits have fur collars and frequently where the sleeve is wide an undersleeve of scarlet will have a tight fur cuff.

The materials of the suits are almost always some variation of the velvet, and velvet presented in a number of new names, such as marvello, passona, ormandale, maryanna.

Beads skillfully used.

Beads are not more lavishly but more skillfully used than in recent seasons. A beaded gown that was a work of art, worn by a velvet model, was entirely of black beads into which were wrought, Egyptian designs and motifs in rhinestones and crystals.

A henna colored crepe afternoon gown was worn with wooden beads of the same color. The figure at the left of the accompanying sketch wears a brown beaded frock. It has crystal leather pompons in burnt orange at the hips.

A tall, sinuous, dark-haired beautiful woman the Spanish-looking evening gown I have attempted to sketch. It had a bodice sewn with jet and crystal beads and a full flaring skirt of alternating black and flame colored squares of tulle caught at the corners to the low waist line. A Spanish shawl of black crepe, gaily embrodered, and a broad flat hat draped with chantilly lace completed the costume.

To describe other costumes sketched: The second figure from the left wears a frock of silver and black, with a headpiece of silver lace with long streamers of orchid velvet ribbons. The third figure wears a robe of two straight pointed panels back and front, sewn solidly with steel beads. An Oriental turban effect, leaving the hair showing at the crown, had long festoons of pearls hanging at one side.

One of the many black crepe afternoon gowns is pictured next. It has flame-colored undersleeves and a flame petticoat is revealed beneath the skirt drapery at the side. Did you ever see such a big hat as this one? The model's hair was tucked into the machine. The child was taken into the office of Dr. Harry D.
Carley, 1321 Bell avenue, where she died in a few moments of a fractured skull.

Wolf was taken to the Page Station. With him in the car at the time was Carl Smith, 2705 Fall avenue. Witnesses say Wolf was driving at a moderate rate and stopped
his car almost instantly.

Overblouse Type of Waist.

The St. Louis market is said to excel in skirt and waist designing and production. Many of the waists shown were of the overblouse type.
The one sketched is a black crepe blouse, steel beaded and having full peasant sleeves of white crepe caught into a black cuff. A bonnet whose inspiration may be traced to the popular Sheikh dramas, worn with this costume, is a black turban draped with white crepe into which are woven, and from which dangle, long strands of jet beads.

A number of knickerbocker suits are exhibited, all very snappy and dashing, getting away from the rough mannish effects in which the knickerbockers were presented a season ago.

The most novel departure in coats is the short affair with wide dolman sleeves, as sketched. Two suits typical of the mode are next presented. One has the flowing sleeve revealing the scarlet undersleeve.
The other, of field mouse gray twisted duvetyne, with its wide sleeve and the skirt of the coat sewn in deep tucks.

The gown at the extreme right is of henna crepe, draped into a panel of crosswise tucks.

Wide Range of Choice in Hats.

Hats never offered a wider range of choice as to head shape. You may have a broad-brimmed hat, a turban or a poke bonnet and be equally smart in any. Oriental turbans are much in evidence as already noted. The poke bonnet, after several seasons of oblivion, is back in force. Many prizes scoop far out in front and much of the trimming is placed at an angle outward and upward and straight ahead. Many of the hats glitter with the glint of metallic fabric. A striking example of the poke bonnet tendency is sketched on the third figure from the lower right. The hat with brim and crown tucks of black velvet is trimmed with a flat wreath of metal flowers.

Probably the shoes present more of a way of novelty than any other article in the dress, most conspicuous among the novelties being the Ras-man boots, a concession, no doubt, to the flapper's incomprehensible but nevertheless determined preference for goloshes. The boots, be it said, are an improvement over goloshes, being very nifty in patent leather with red leather or fur tops.

Northwest's Largest Liquor Raid.

ducted in the Northwest Federal agents yesterday seized 13 stills and 1000 gallons of alcohol in a factory building and arrested four men.

AUTO KILLS GIRL, 4, RUNNING INTO STREET

Child Struck When Car Is Said to Have Been Going at Moderate Rate on Bell Avenue.

Jeanette Beatrice McNearney, 4 years old, daughter of Dr. and Mrs.
Joseph McNearney, 1414 Grandville place, was almost instantly killed at 8 a. m. today when struck by an automobile driven by Carl L. Wolff, 23, of 6841 Magnolia avenue, a superintendent for the Kroger Grocery and Bakery Co.

Wolff was driving west on Ridge avenue, and turning north into Bell avenue when, witnesses said, the child ran from the west to the east side of Bell avenue into the path of the machine. The child was taken into the office of Dr. Harry D.
Carley, 1321 Bell avenue, where she
skull.

Wolff was taken to the Page Station. With him in the car at the time was Carl Smith, 2705 Fall avenue. Witnesses say Wolff was driving at a moderate rate and stopped
his car almost instantly.

ALLEGED ELECTION
TO BE INVESTIGATED

ent. Edward L. Rothganger of Wellston, also an attorney in St.
Louis, then took the chair. Permanent members of the committee were elected as follows:

Normandy, acting president of the Missouri League of Women Voters and president of the County League of Women Voters; Mrs. E. T. Smith of 1717 Kingsbury avenue, Democratic nominee for the State Legislature in the Second District; George W. Baumhoff of Keyes Summit; Mrs.
J. Hal Lynch of Clayton and James Cook of Webster Groves. The members are chiefly Republicans, but Mrs. Lynch is nonpartisan.

Resolutions Unanimously Adopted.

Baumhoff was named chairman of the resolutions committee, which read its report after the meeting had adjourned to the Courthouse lawn, where persons who had been in the corridors and outside augmented its size to about 1000. The resolutions, which are set forth elsewhere in the Post-Dispatch, were adopted unanimously, with a great massed shout.
Their reading was interrupted a number of times by applause.

Mrs. Hardy read a telegram from Attorney-General Barrett regretting that he could not attend the meeting, and urging that lawyers be included in the personnel of a committee to make a "fair investigation" of the charges. He suggested that evidence of fraud be sent to him and to Prosecuting Attorney Mueller of St. Louis County. Such a committee was appointed, comprising Laughlin, Mrs. Rothganger, chairman of the Wellston League of Women Voters, and W. F. Stahl-huth of 7446 Hazel avenue, Wellston.

This committee took statements of alleged fraud from about 15 persons, in private. One of those persons, a man from Wellston, first told the crowd what he had found. He exhibited a number of Republican ballots which he said, he had fished from a sewer behind a polling place.

Seven of them were legible and included votes for two of the chief Republican candidates who had been opposed by the machine.

Wide Variety of Charges.

The other charges made in the statements to the committee were of varying nature, mostly relating to manipulation of the vote in various ways, but also charging intimidation of voters, challengers and watchers, including women. One charge was that blank ballots had been folded with voted ballots and dropped in the ballot box, the only supposed intention of which would be for use in connection with a possible contest.

"530 Votes From 323 Voters."

Mrs. Rothganger told her committee of events at the Wellston precinct polling place, 6317 Eastern avenue, election day, where she declared there were not more than 323 voters of all parties, but that 530 votes in the Republican ticket were found in the official count. She repeated this allegation to a Post-Dispatch reporter in effect as follows:

Groups of women kept count of the persons who entered the polling place for the entire 13 hours it was open, and three separate counts ascertained that 323 persons had voted, all presumably to vote. If they were not all voters, the returns would have been for less than that number. Just before the polls closed a voter was asked the number of his ballot, and said it was 535. Ballots are numbered in rotation as cast.

The official count for this precinct today shows just 530 votes total for nearly every office on the Republican ticket, and more than 530 on all tickets.

Employees of Gambling House.

The three Republican judges of election in this precinct were Eugene Carm of 6128 Eastern avenue, James Burns of 6128 Eastern avenue and John Conneland of 1567 Wellston place. Tony Foley's gambling games are conducted at 6128 Eastern avenue, where Canty lives. Mrs. Rothganger asserted that it was common knowledge that the three Republican officials named were employees of this place, Canty being second in command of the games.

Mrs. Rothganger said that one of the Democratic judges, a man named Stewart, did not appear all day, but that the others, a man named Peck and Mrs. John Percival, arrived just before the polls were to open at
a. m. and found the clock in the polling place pointed 7 o'clock and that a number of ballots had been cast.

Says Women Were Ejected.

She was there then, she said, Copoland ejected Mrs. Percival and Peck, averring that they had no credentials. He refused to look at them and when they were ejected, they were late and could not serve.
Mrs. Rothganger will make affidavit to her statement.

The committee recalled that in several precincts voters who rebelled against nonresident officials and elected them, choosing their own substitute. This was done at Menard Highlands and Baumhoff men-sioned as one of the Republicans there. There were charges of returns.

peating" at various precincts.

It was hard to get the crowd to adjourn the meeting. They called for a speech by Laughlin, but he told them the taking of the statements was of more importance, constituing ammunition for the fight. The committee will meet at Laughlin's office in Boatmen's Bank Building tomorrow morning and take affirmations for presentation to the Attorney-General.

E. T. Smith started the fund for contests with a subscription of $100.
Laughlin gave $300, for himself, his wife and his son. Baumhoff gave $25. There were many small subscriptions, and most of them were paid at once. Alexander Campbell of 6435 Wellmar avenue, Wellston, a carpenter, was elected treasurer and gave bond. His telephone is Cahany 532.

For years Fred Essen of Clayton has been Republican "boss" of St.
Louis County, where there are so few Democrats that a Democratic officeholder is a rarity. The whole Essen sate was nominated on the Republican ticket Tuesday, with three exceptions, on unofficial returns. An Essen friend told the committee Circuit Clerk, to replace a former friend of Essen's who rebelled two years ago. Prosecuting Attorney Mueller, another Essen adherent, was nominated again.

Essen has controlled the three members of the County Court, the administrative body. Two of these were renominated, while the third was not voted for. Essen, however, will not have unanimous control of the court, for a reform candidate was elected from one district.

Address by Victor Miller.

Victor J. Miller, treasurer of the St. Louis Police Board, delivered an address at the mass meeting, sat night. He said, in part:

"I'm here as a spectator. It's none of my business what goes on in the city, but I'm glad at last to see the people here come out in open meetings and protest against the degradation of their rights. It seems there is a little cheating going on.
Whether Democratic or Republican, it's your duty as American citizens to contest fraudulent elections. Essentials for such a fight are a bank-roll and an organization, and for goodness' sake as many as are here come out in the next election and vote and watch who else votes."

"Recently in one day 11,000 fake votes were kicked off the registration books in St. Louis. If there were that many automobile thefts and holdups in one day there would be no end of a fuss and you would all be yelling for the arrest and prosecution of the offenders, but we didn't prosecute the people responsible for this fraudulent registration swindle."

"One of the candidates in the senatorial race announced he was going to prosecute any election irregularities brought to his notice. Now is your chance to find out if he means it. I hope that God will be with you—I'm with you."

Miller, as is known, sponsored a candidate for the Collectorship in St. Louis, who was defeated by a great plurality.

Mrs. Rosemary Alexander of Vi-nita Park, a defeated Republican candidate for the State Legislature, asserted today that she had called a meeting at the county Courthouse and that the Clean Election Committee had "elected" her members.
She said she had invited Miller there.

McCray's plan for production of coal under State protection.

If McCray's plan to operate the mines by employing local miners fails State officials have said today that work will be done by imported labor.

It is planned to operate only the two mines here immediately, with increases depending upon the amount of coal found necessary to supply Indiana State institutions and necessary utilities.

Conference of Governors Planned If

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 4.— Unless an agreement ending the nation-wide coal strike results from today the addition to the Zoo of a 55-pound chimpanzee, the gift of Philip H. Brockman, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, The animal, costing $100, arrived yesterday from New York City, in charge of a keeper, having arrived in this country a week ago from Borneo. This makes three chimpanzees in the Zoo.

"The chimpanzee is one of the finest I have ever seen," Diekmann said. "It is quite an addition to the Zoo."

Brockman attended a shrine celebration at Forest Park a week ago last Sunday. Diekmann said, and was enthusiastic over the Zoo's development. It was then that he told Diekmann he would purchase an animal for the Zoo, to be chosen by the society.

The "chimp," a male, is two and one-half feet tall and weighs nearly twice as much as "Henry Kiel," another of the three now owned by the Zoo. The other is "Halle," an 18-months-old female recently received.

Brockman is to name the chimpanzee. It will be trained in table etiquette, Diekmann said, joining the "school" now held for the other daily. Max Mahl, trainer, will be in charge of instructing the "class" in the study of the use of knife and fork each day at 4 p. m. in one of the lion house cages.

Finds Rings in Forgotten Place.

Other of the three now owned by the advent called police headquarters yesterday and told them they need not look for her diamond rings, valued at $400, any longer. She said she had just found them, wrapped in tissue paper, and a hankie, stuffed between the coils of the radiator, where she had placed them July 18. She forgot she had placed them there, she told police.

Canada Is Becoming Mecca for U.S. Tourist, Who Spent $75,000,000 There Last Year

Great Natural Parks, Good Highways and Relief for "Thirsty" Are Inducements, Dominion Report Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TORONTO, Aug. 4.—American tourists last year spent $75,000,000 in Canada, according to an estimate made in an official report of the Dominion Government's Parks Department. The importance of this item in international trade, which is just as significant as though it appeared in official trade figures, is obvious, but it is recognized that there is no good reason why it should not be multiplied many times and perhaps indefinitely. In the past only desultory propaganda for the promotion of tourist traffic has been used. Now the subject is being seriously grappled with by the Dominion Government and various provincial governments, as well as the transportation companies, and it will not be surprising if in a few years Canada's tourist business, as a revenue producer, will be lifted to an entirely new plane.

Time was when tourist traffic was exclusively a matter for the steamship and railway lines. The motor car has changed that and takes the tourist into the hamlets and byways of the country. Last year more than 100,000 tourist cars entered Canada; that would mean upward of half a million tourists. This year the number will be much greater, for the tide is growing rapidly. During the war many American vacationists cut off from ocean travel made their first acquaintance with their next-door neighbor. Although great crowds are again flocking to Europe, there has been no corresponding cessation in the drift toward Canada.

More Good Roads in View.

On the main highways touching the border it is no uncommon experience to find every third or fourth car bearing an American license number. Every State from California to Florida is represented. Urchins along the roadsides make a game of keeping a record of how many different states they identify in a day. Twenty or thirty is not an infrequent score and of course from contiguous states there literally are hundreds.

The Farmers' Government from the Province of Ontario is setting a new standard for expenditures by any Canadian province on motor roads construction. Primarily the purpose is to give the farmers themselves transportation facilities as they have never enjoyed before, and farmer politicians always distinguish between "speedways for the joy ride" and ordinary good roads. But the road that is a good road for the farmer's light runabout is a joy to the heavy touring car, so that Ontario's good farm roads program is proving to be a great stimulus to the tourist traffic.

In addition to large direct expenditures, in which both the dominion and the province shared, Ontario now has estimated and capitalized revenue from motor licenses for the next 20 years and is proceeding to spend that sum on increasing the network of smooth-surface roads that already decorates the province. The Province of Quebec has long had a famous highway skirting the historic St. Lawrence and terminating in picturesque Quebec city. The popularity of this tour and of all tourist traffic to Quebec Province has not been diminished by the fact that its two chief cities know neither the Volstead act nor anything closely related to it. Away out on the Pacific Coast, British Columbia is proving in the same way, for the main point of entry from the State of Washington is this year showing an increase of 50 per cent. But, so also does the Jefferson Highway, running north to Winnipeg, where the arid belt is continuous, show an unprecedented increase in tourist business, as do all the other dry provinces.

The chief mecca of railway tourists are the great national parks which have been established by the Canadian Government. Of these, the most famous are the resorts in Canadian Rockies, where the mountain grandeur is perhaps unequalled in the world. That there is need for a "See Canada first" campaign among Canadians is illustrated by the fact that last year 60 per cent of the visitors to the national parks in the Rockies were foreign tourists. There were more than 100,000 of them, chiefly from the United States, but including also globe trotters from nearly every country in the world. For boat travel, the Niagara to the sea trip by way of Lake Ontario, the Thousand Islands and the St. Lawrence is unrivaled on the continent and brings tens of thousands of visitors annually.

Many Camps Maintained.

Among summer vacationists the great resorts of Northern Ontario and Quebec covered with forests and dotted with lakes and streams have long been famous to the initiated. The tremendous extent of this playground has not yet been appreciated, even by Canadians. Its potentialities have been scarcely more than tapped. But every year camps and entire colonies are peopled exclusively for the summer by families from Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Detroit and other Central American cities. The Muskoka Lake district already is settled densely with summer homes that are often palatial. There are numerous other districts with equal advantages which are beginning to be developed. The eastern shores of Georgian Bay, discovered 300 years ago by the original French pioneers, has unlimited possibilities. With its granite-cliff coast of Laurentian rock, the oldest known to geologists and fortified by 20,000 islands, it presents a panorama unequalled.

In Algonquin Park the Ontario Government has set aside an area more than 300 miles square as a game preserve. In it no firearm may be carried. Wooded and dotted with lakes, it is rapidly becoming a natural home for the wild. Deer, beaver and all kinds of wild life may be seen from the windows of a railway coach.

Conditions for camping tours for those who wish to get away from the comforts of resorts are ideal and provide all the sensations of pioneering. There literally are scores of other districts, all with exceptional tourist attractions.

The Economic Possibilities.
To Americans, Canada anywhere from the maritime provinces to the Pacific has the advantage of providing the fresh outlook of a foreign country with customs and outlook that are different, but yet similar enough to their own to cause no inconvenience. With America's increasing wealth and population, and as Canada's amazing tourist potentialities become better known, this country looks forward to far-reaching development in this department. If the proximity of a mighty neighbor has disadvantages, this is one respect in which the credit is all on the other side.

Music program—Columbia se-

8:00 P. M.

Violin and piano recital given by John A. Patterson, violinist, and Miss Beatrice Knetzer, pianist.

Station K S D presented a visiting artist on its music program last night in the person of the Chicago soprano, Mona Smith. Miss Smith is in St. Louis, the guest of friends, and was invited to sing for Station K S D. Her program, which included both lyric and dramatic numbers, displayed the range and power of her voice with fine effect. The best two numbers in the list were "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lleurance, and "Honey, Sing Me an Old-time Song," by Carey. So pleasing was the former that messages were received by telephone afterwards urging the repetition of it. Miss Smith was assisted in her program by the St. Louis pianist, Miss Estelle Voellmecke, who acted as accompanist.

Tonight's program will be a vocal and dramatic recital by Mrs. Arthur V. Mahoney, soprano, and Miss Rosalie Fehlig, reader. Miss Marie T. Robyn will be at the piano. Tomorrow night, two other St. Louis artists will be heard. They are John A. Patterson, violinist, and Miss Beatrice Knetzer, pianist.

Station K S D has added another State to its constantly increasing audience. This time it is Virginia, and word to the effect that the concert of July 31 was heard in Danville, near the southern border of the Old Dominion, came in yesterday. A. S. Clarke of the Clarke Electric Co. of Danville wrote as follows:

"This may sound like a dream, but here goes. On the night of July 31, just two or three minutes after 10 o'clock, Eastern standard time, I heard a woman announce as follows —are invited to write the radio editor of the Post—static—station K S—more static—signing off."

"Since there are no K stations east of the Mississippi except K D K A (Pittsburg) and one or two others, none of which are run by a newspaper, and since K S D is your station and K F C that of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, I figure out that it must have been one of those two.
One thing is certain. A woman was announcing, and the time is correct.
If my conjecture is correct I know you will be as much gratified by the unusual transmission as I am by the success of it."

This additional State makes the count now 35, exclusive of the Province of Ontario, Canada, and the republic of Mexico, and increases the K S D audience by several thousand persons.

90 per cent of all diseases can be traced directly to constipation

And, you can permanently rid yourself of this dangerous condition by the daily use of a delicious, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's BRAN, cooked and krumbled! Don't let constipation "get away" with you or any of your family! Don't neglect such danger signals as bad breath, coated tongue, brain fog, feverish headaches, bad taste! No matter how slight the symptoms, FIGHT CONSTIPATION!
It is deadly, once it gets its grip on your system!

Physicians endorse Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, for constipation because it is nature's food and because it relieves constipation permanently. The only caution is to eat Bran regularly and then the severest case can be combated successfully!
Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily;
in chronic cases, eat Bran with each meal! Results will astonish you! Bran causes no irritation or discomfort. It sweeps and cleans and purifies, leaving the eliminative tract in healthy, active condition that throws off the poisons and keeps you free from dangerous toxic conditions!

You should know that Bran not only permanently relieves constipation, but is one of the most wonderful of foods. It is rich in all elements upon which the body thrives—mineral salts, proteins, fats, carbo-hydrates.
Bran does wonderful work for children, making them strong and robust!
Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal or sprinkled over your favorite cereal; its nut-like flavor is delicious. Or, use it in countless palate-appealing ways for baking and cooking. Buy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, from all grocers.

MAN SHOOT HIS NEIGHBOR AFTER WIVES QUARREL

Luxemburg Resident Says He Fired After Other Jumped on Side of Auto and Struck Him.

William O'Connell, 50 years old, of Luxemburg, St. Louis County, shot Louis L'Ange, 50, one of his Luxemburg neighbors, at 7 a. m. today at the grade crossing at Ivory avenue and Tesson street, St. Louis. He said afterward that L'Ange had climbed on the running board of the automobile in which O'Connell was riding with his son-in-law and had struck him in the face.

L'Ange is in serious condition, his wound being in the right side of the neck, and the bullet having gone near the spinal column. O'Connell was taken to the Carondelet Police Station.

The shooting followed a quarrel between L'Ange's wife and O'Connell's wife and daughter, which the women took into court.

The L'Ange live at 230 Military road and the O'Connells at 202 Pearl street, while their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Boeger, live at 204 Pearl.

Because of quarrels between the women, Mrs. L'Ange recently obtained Justice Court summons against Mrs. O'Connell and Mrs. Boeger, charging disturbance of the peace and slander. The cases were taken to a court in University City, the defendants having taken a change of venue. The cases were dismissed yesterday after a hearing.

O'Connell said to the police, after the shooting, that he had nothing to do with the women's quarrel, but that he started to ride into the city with Boeger, who is employed by a downtown industrial plant, and that the machine stopped at the Ivory and Tesson crossing, the railroad gates being lowered.

At this place, he said, L'Ange ran up, addressed him with an epithet, and got on the running board. O'Connell said he warned L'Ange to get down, but that L'Ange struck him once and was striking at him again when O'Connell took Boeger's revolver from the side pocket of the automobile and fired it once.

As L'Ange fell, wounded, O'Connell got out and tried to help him rise. L'Ange, in a statement to the police, denied that he had climbed on the running board or struck at O'Connell. The police, however, found two witnesses, besides Boeger, who upheld O'Connell's story. They are Frank and Herman Osterloch.

ALLEGED LIQUOR SCHOONER SEIZED BY COAST CUTTER

Two Cuban Officials Reported Killed in Fight With Craft Prior to Capture.

By the Associated Press. KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 4.—The auxiliary schooner Success, alleged to have been used in a gigantic alien and liquor smuggling trade in connection with which several men recently were indicted by a Federal grand jury, was seized at sea by a coast guard cutter yesterday and brought to Key West.

The schooner is said to have escaped surveillance at Havana, and put to sea before the cutter ran her down. The vessel and her crew were held under guard in port last night, and the crew will be lodged in the county jail here today.

By the Associated Press. HAVANA, Aug. 4.—C. P. Moore, a former American private detective and declared to be the owner of the American auxiliary schooner Success, was arrested late yesterday at the request of the American Legation, and is being held incommunicado. It is reported that the arrest was made in connection with a Florida indictment, following the alleged smuggling of liquor and Chinese into Florida from Cuba.

By the Associated Press. PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 4.—Reports received here stated that two Cuban officials were killed in a fight which ensued when the Success, prior to her seizure by the cutter, got into difficulties with Cuban authorities, by her failure to show colors.

Addition for Negro Institute. JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 4.—Lincoln Institute, negro university at Jefferson City, is to have a new $100,000 men's dormitory, according to an announcement made this week by I. E. Page, president. Page took up the duties of president last Tuesday, following the letting of a contract for the construction work on the new dormitory by the board of regents. The contract was given to a St. Louis firm which submitted a bid of $99,789. Repairs which are to be made on the present dormitories will amount to an additional $20,000, President Page said. Clement Richardson, retiring president, has been granted a leave of absence from the institute.

Judge Woodside Defeated. Special to the Post-Dispatch. HOUSTON, Mo., Aug. 4.—W. E. Barton of Houston has been nominated as Democratic candidate for Judge of the Circuit Court in the Nineteenth district by a majority of about 2000 over Judge Woodside of Salem. Judge Woodside is present incumbent and has been Judge of this Circuit for twenty-five years. Barton carried Texas, Pulaski, Laclede and Crawford Counties and Judge Woodside carried Phelps and Dent.

80 GO TO FRESH AIR CAMP

Eighty mothers and children from the tenement districts were today taken to the Salvation Army's Fresh Air Camp, on Natural Bridge road, near Ferguson, where they will be guests for a week. They replace a group of 100, who have been at the camp since its opening last week.

About 500 mothers and children will be given recreation at the camp before it closes in September. Cottages, shower baths, a swimming pool and play apparatus are provided, while the mothers receive instruction in household economics and hygiene. Preference is given large families from the poorer districts in selecting the persons to be afforded the week's outing.

CONSTITUTION, SESSION BRIEF

Remonstrances Against Public Health Proposal Submitted. Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 4.—Ten minutes was a sufficient length of time for today's session of the constitutional convention, which was confined to roll call and receiving of remonstrances against proposal No.

192, dealing with public health measures. About a hundred remonstrances were presented by various delegates, all opposing the proposal or modifying it. Only 44 of the 82 delegates were present at yesterday afternoon's session, the first meeting of the convention since it adjourned last Friday over the primary election period. Yesterday's meeting adjourned immediately after roll call, as neither the president nor vice president had returned to the city.

UNUSUAL SITUATION FACED BY DEMOCRATS IN MISSOURI

Apparent Victory of Senator Reed Puts Other Candidates in Embarrassing Position in Forming State Platform.

By CURTIS A. BETTS. Of the Post-Dispatch Staff. With the renomination of Senator Reed, which seems assured unless Breckinridge Long demands a recount of the ballots and it shows marked changes from the unofficial tabulation, the Democratic party in Missouri is confronted by a most interesting and unusual situation in the framing of the party platform when the candidates for state and legislative offices meet in convention Sept. 12.

The questions uppermost are: Will the convention be dominated by Reed to repudiate previous platform declarations and repudiate Woodrow Wilson either directly or by ignoring him in the platform?

Or will the rural members, who will constitute the big body of the convention, stand against Reed and insist upon an endorsement of Wilson and the League of Nations?

Probable Stand of Reed. In the primary Reed assailed the League of Nations and many of the national Democratic measures, defending his course in opposing them in the Senate, and it is reasonably safe to assume that in the convention, of which he will be a member, he will oppose with all his strength any endorsement of the League, though it is not probable that he will oppose a perfunctory endorsement of Wilson.

Successful opposition by the Senator could be construed only as a repudiation of the League of Nations, even though its result was only to fail to mention the league in the platform, it being recognized as the most important measure of the only Democratic national administration in the past 25 years.

Unsuccessful opposition would mean that the party would go to the voters with its leading candidate running entirely on an individual platform and in opposition to the party platform.

Platform Two Years Ago. Two years ago the Democratic State Convention adopted a platform containing this declaration: We rejoice in the opportunity to propose and uphold the greatest measure of international application in all ages. Democracy cannot rest until peace reigns again on earth and is secured so far as human ingenuity can secure it through the agency of the League of Nations, effecting disarmament, abolishing secret treaties and exchanging mutual guarantees to observe as inviolate the territory of our neighbor.

Again we commit the Democratic party to immediate ratification of the treaty "without reservations which would impair its essential integrity; but do not oppose the acceptance of any reservations making clearer or more specific the obligations of the United States to the league associates."

Custom of the Party. It is customary for the Democratic state platform to endorse the latest national Democratic platform, and that was done two years ago, as follows: We reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of Democracy and ratify and support the platform of our national convention.

Much space was devoted to the League of Nations in the national platform of 1920, which contained a strong argument for ratification of the treaty. From it may be quoted: The Democratic party favors the League of Nations as the surest, if not the only, practicable means of maintaining the peace of the world and terminating the insufferable burden of military and naval establishments.

In nearly every speech of his campaign, Senator Reed denounced the League, and thus took a position of opposition to the latest expressions of the party both State and national. It is hardly conceivable that he could take any other position in the general election campaign.

Repudiation Hardly Conceivable. It also is hardly conceivable that a State Democratic convention will repudiate a recognized party principle, expressed in the party platform of only two years ago, particularly as the members of the convention, with few exceptions, will be rural Democrats who have remained faithful to the party platform.

With this situation, the convention bids fair to be a stormy one and to rival the turbulent Joplin convention of 1920, which repudiated Reed. While it is too soon after the primary to determine the hands into which will fall the anti-Reed leadership of the convention, it is not improbable that Frank H. Lee of Joplin, nominee for Congress in the Twelfth District, and Frank H. Harris of Rolla, nominee for the State Senate in the Twenty-fourth District, Continued on Next Page.

How to Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the afternoon evening, just bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving a ounce of pure powdered aloe in a half pint of witch hazel. You will find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. As a wrinkle-remover, the aloe lotion is remarkably successful. Its action is almost magical. The deepest furrows, as well as the finest lines—whether on the face, neck, or hands—worry—are immediately affected. Deepened pores are reduced, flabby skin is "drawn in." Facial contour is improved wonderfully. The simple ingredients of aloe, can be had at any drug store, and you need not hesitate to try the lotion, as it will not harm any skin in the least.

The wastes in building go into the cost of building

What are the wastes in building? The wastes in building are the over-lapping charges for designing, engineering, construction and financing. These charges are not a part of the ground and the building—they do not add to them, but they are tacked on and somebody has to pay.

At Cedar Rapids, Province of Quebec, Canada, is a wonderful hydro-electric development. The harnessed water power generates two hundred thousand horse power of electric energy. These structures were erected by Universal Engineers and Constructors. It is the accomplishment of many works of like magnitude that qualify them for the giant job they are now on.

Board of Directors W. W. Boyd, Jr. President Louis H. Egan President Union Electric Light and Power Co. C. R. D. Meier President Heine Boiler Company A. J. Benner Vice-President and Treasurer E. M. Grossman Attorney-at-Law C. W. Bulkeley Vice-President G. O. Carpenter, Jr. W. H. Marham & Company R. J. Blackburn General Manager Unit Construction Company Leslie H. Thompson General Manager Simmons Hardware Company C. C. Smith Vice-President The Structural Engineering Corporation

If these fees and profits divided among several organizations could be limited to a single organization, what would happen? The same thing that has happened in every other field of industry where waste has been eliminated. The cost of production would be decreased and the single profit would be greater than any of the former individual profits.

Concentration of capital, production and management means in building as in any other line, lowered cost of production and increased earning power. To accomplish this double purpose is the reason for the Universal Building Corporation.

The companies that are joining forces contribute an experience of successful operation in a large and varied field of architecture, engineering and construction. The directors and officers of the Universal Building Corporation have proven capabilities to direct the company in the big work in which it is engaged.

The capital stock of the Universal Building Corporation is commensurate with its scope of operation. The capital stock is ten million dollars. The waste eliminating plan of the Universal Building Corporation will do away with scattered responsibility and multiplied profits by centering all functions, financing, designing, engineering and construction in a single organization. A part of the stock is offered to the public—an opportunity to help in the work and share in the profits.

SAYS HE GOT 70 CENTS

Secretary of Concern Testifies He Lost "All He Had" by Buying 1000 Shares.

Taking of depositions in the suit of the Irving National Bank of New York against a group of defendants, including a number of St. Louisans, charging conspiracy to defraud in the financing of the Temtor Corn & Fruit Products Co., was continued yesterday before Special Commissioner Charles Houts.

Rudolph R. Bang of St. Louis, who was secretary and director of both the Temtor company and the Best-Clymer Manufacturing Co., and who is one of the defendants, testified that he had bought 1000 shares of Temtor stock at a time when it was selling for $40 to $50 a share, and had lost "all he had" on it. He sold the major portion of it recently for 35 to 70 cents a share, he said.

The suit, as has been told, charges that the Temtor stock was manipulated on the St. Louis Stock Exchange to give it a false value.

Brokers' Testimony.

Andrew H. Kauffman, broker, who was a member of the former firm of Pape, Potter & Kauffman, told how his firm had joined with a New York brokerage firm as syndicate managers for the Temtor organization. His firm, he said, undertook to handle a quarter of the deal, which was for a total of $5,500,000 of stock. He said his firm went to its bankers, the Mercantile Trust Co., the First National Bank and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., to have the deal financed for them. He described how he had approached Fessenden J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., and obtained his assent to the proposition. He said he didn't have to tell much about the proposition to Wade, who seemed to be familiar with the plans, which included the purchase of the Granite City plant of the Corn Products Refining Co.

Kauffman and his brother, R. King Kauffman, vice president and real estate officer of the Mercantile Trust Co., both are defendants in the suit. Andrew Kauffman said he had first heard of the Temtor plans through his brother, R. King Kauffman was financially interested in the deal and, it is charged, went to New York and negotiated a line of credit amounting to $300,000 from the Irving National Bank on statements of the Best-Clymer company's financial condition.

Milton G. Clymer, vice president and general manager of the Best-Clymer company and president of the Temtor company, gave a long deposition Wednesday and yesterday concerning details of the financing. W. B. and Ford W. Thompson and Randolph Laughlin, attorneys for the Irving National Bank, say they are taking these depositions to furnish the background of the financial transactions. A number of the defendants, including those who have so far deposed, are represented by Theodore Rassieur. More depositions will be taken tomorrow.

ANTI-PELLETIER RESOLUTIONS BEATEN AT K. OF C. CONVENTION

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 4.—Every anti-Pelletier and anti-Flaherty resolution introduced at the closing session of the fortieth annual convention of the Knights of Columbus was defeated last night following an all-day session, in which vigorous speeches for and against the resolutions were reported to have been made after adjournment, the dove of peace hovered over the gathering, and everybody cheered and shook hands.

The meeting was held behind closed doors.

There were 11 anti-Flaherty and anti-Pelletier resolutions introduced and these were reduced to one which was finally rejected.

The supreme board of directors was authorized to proceed with its plan to create a national correspondence school open to all. The plan is an outgrowth of the correspondence school opened at the Knights headquarters in New Haven. Last January and operated free for veterans of the war. Already 35,000 veterans have enrolled in the school, which provides tuition in 31 courses.

The establishment of a junior order of the Knights of Columbus for Catholic boys of the United States and Canada was one of the principal subjects of discussion. It was decided that the movement, which councils should be referred to a special committee.

FARMERS URGED TO HOLD GRAIN

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—President George E. Marcy, of the Armour Grain Co., issued a signed statement last night urging farmers to hold back their grain for reasonable prices, and saying that as prices for grain go up, better business conditions throughout the whole country will follow. He said:

"An upward movement in grain prices is in prospect, and the situation promises to be of such financial benefit to the American farmer that he in turn will be in a position to materially improve general business conditions. An orderly and gradual marketing of existing wheat stocks will end the present depressed price conditions, and there are tremendous economic factors at work to force slower and more stable marketing. Settlement of the coal strike will result in an increase in the rolling stock capable of moving grain to terminals and expected improvement in general business conditions should further affect the amount of equipment available."

THOMSON RESIGNS AT THE REQUEST OF BUDER

Assessor Says Removal of Opponent in Primary Was for Good of the Service.

Albert R. Thomson, chief deputy city assessor, has resigned his position at the request of Assessor William F. Buder, following Thomson's unsuccessful candidacy against Buder for the Republican nomination for the assessorship in Tuesday's primary. The resignation became known today. A Post-Dispatch reporter that he asked for Thomson's resignation, and that Thomson wrote the resignation at once. "It was for the good of the service," Buder said. "I felt that I must have loyal men in the office." Thomson has been chief deputy for a year and a half. When the office became vacant last year, most of the members of the Republican City Committee asked Mayor Kiel to appoint Thomson. He appointed Buder, and said he did this to repay his obligations to his ap-pointee's brothers, G. A. Buder, publisher of the Times, and Oscar Buder. After Thomson entered the primary as a candidate some ill feeling was manifest in the assessor's office, as between Buder and Thomson and some of the other deputies and clerks in the office took sides more or less openly. It was predicted, before the primary, that if either Buder or Thomson won, the other would not remain. Buder's plurality over Thomson was 11,298, and two other candidates got votes nearly equal to that for Thomson.

Severe Quake for Alaska Reported.

By the Associated Press. ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 4.—The severest earthquake experienced in this district in years occurred Wednesday night, but resulted in no material damage. The disturbance came as a bump, which was followed by a trembling of the earth for minutes later.

Near-East Relief Director Named. M. Edwin Johnson, 8432 Hall's Ferry road, St. Louis County, general manager of Plaza Chautauqua, and former pastor of the Windsor Memorial Church, has been appointed director of the Near-East relief activities in Eastern Missouri. He took charge of the work Monday. Dr. George H. Simon, regional supervisor of the organization, has been in charge of the office, 1406 Chemical Building, for a month, and will remain in St. Louis until Johnson can take over the entire work of the organization in Missouri.

MEET SUGAR LOBBY
BACK OF MOVE TO

Interests Said to Have Majority of One in Senate for 2-Cent Duty on Cuban, 2½ From Other Countries

SEVEN DEMOCRATS TO

Would Impose Additional Tax Estimated at More Than $30,000,000 on the American Table.

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Information reached the Post-Dispatch last night that the sugar lobby at Washington is largely responsible for the hasty agreement reached Wednesday by Democratic and Republican Senators under which it was attempted to cut short debate on the tariff bill and force a final vote on Aug. 17. Fear that investigation provoked by charges over the wool schedule would have secret deals made on other schedules, principally sugar, is believed to have played an important part.

The statement was made on good authority that the best sugar interests have obtained a majority of one vote for a tariff of 2 cents on sugar imported from Cuba and 2½ cents on sugar from other countries. This will impose a tax estimated at more than $30,000,000 on the American table. This is in addition to the sum which would be collected at the lower rate of 1.6 for Cuba, reported by the Senate Finance Committee, namely $182,000,000. In other words, an addition to the cost of the breakfast cup of nearly $200,000,000 a year.

According to a secret poll of the Senate, the best sugar combine counts on the votes of seven Democratic Senators to jam through the high schedule. These Senators, it is asserted, are Edwin S. Bruns, Louisiana; Joseph P. Kamp, Louisiana; Andrew A. Jones, New Mexico; Henry F. Ashurst, Arizona; Charles A. Culberson, Texas; Morris Sheppard, Texas, and John D. Kendrick, Wyoming.

Sen. McCumber Claimed. Led by Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, who is slated to be the next chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, as a result of the defeat of Senator McCumber of North Dakota, the round-up of the sugar Senators is said to exceed 40 Republicans and with the Democrats, to give a sure majority.

Among the Republicans listed as having been won over to the increase beyond the rate of 1.6 cents a pound, fixed by the Senate Finance Committee after extended hearings, are James Watson, Indiana; Garry S. New, Indiana; Frank B. Willis, Ohio; William B. McKinley, Illinois; George W. Pepper, Pennsylvania; Knute Nelson, Minnesota; Frank Kellogg, Minnesota; Henry W. Brewster, Connecticut, and George P. McLean, Connecticut.

Those classed as doubtful but leaning toward the best sugar raid include Coleman DuPont, Delaware; L. H. Ball, Delaware, and Davis E. Ellis, West Virginia.

Senators Borah of Idaho, Spencer of Missouri and Calder and Wadsworth of New York, all Republicans, are stated to have repulsed every effort to induce them to go into the best sugar camp.

Best Sugar Lobby Busy. For weeks the best sugar lobby has been trying to offset the recent exposure in the New York World regarding the attempt to "blackmail Cuba" into limiting its sugar production to 2,500,000 tons and subsequent activities of Alfred Grover, and his United States and Cuba Sugar Producers' agreement syndicate, incorporated in attempting to collect $12,000,000 from refiners of Cuban sugar in this country.

Although Grover claimed to have knowledge of a "congressional agreement" and to speak with authority, Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee of the House was the only member who would admit having talked with him about sugar rates.

It is represented that practically all the obstacles resulting from these exposures have been ironed out through the constant work of the best sugar interests, and the way now seems clear for a reasonably quick wind-up on the tariff and the forcing up of the sugar rates.

Results of primaries in several states are counted on to make sure members indifferent to any "public clamor" that may arise from the ruthless program said to have been determined upon. Senator McCumber is serving his last term, having been defeated for re-nomination. Culberson has just lost out in his fight for re-nomination in Texas, and Senator New of Indiana is out of the running, having been defeated by Spencer.

ARGUMENTS FOR ACCEPTANCE OF FORD'S SHOALS OFFER
BY COMMITTEE MINORITY

Senators State Adoption of Plan Would Be Quickest Way to Stop Government's Losses Which Have Reached $3,000,000 Since War.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for purchase and lease of the Government's vast nitrate and water power projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was urged by Republican and Democratic Senators comprising a minority of the Senate Agriculture Committee in a report submitted today to the Senate. It was signed by Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota; Senators Capper, Republican, Kansas, and Harrison, Mississippi; Caraway, Arkansas; Randall, Louisiana; Smith, South Carolina, and Heflin, Alabama, Democrats. Strong protest was entered by the Senators against the acceptance of the Government ownership and operation of the nitrate and water power projects, the committee's chairman.

The report was presented by Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, in behalf of the Ford proposal on the committee whose signatures were attached. It estimated that the Government had lost $3,000,000 at Muscle Shoals since the armistice, by failure to develop and operate the project, and demanded the quickest way to stop these "losses" is to accept Henry Ford's offer for the purchase and lease of the Government's Muscle Shoals properties.

"Certain objections to the Ford offer," said the report, "are made, but we insist without fear of successful contradiction that none of the objections to the Ford offer can be remedied or solved by Government ownership and operation—by the Government going into the power business or entering the uncharted and hazardous field of operating nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals in the production of nitric acid and other chemical processes, the commercial success of which is yet controversial.

"For Congress to adopt such a policy when Henry Ford's offer makes it unnecessary for the Government to do so," it continued, "would subject Congress to the just condemnation and reproach of all sober-minded people."

"The Only Permanent Relief." The belief was expressed that every member of the Senate would agree with the committee minority with reference to the acceptance of Mr. Ford's proposal when they consider the "present fuel and transportation emergencies" in the light of "development of such great hydro-electric power as is found at Muscle Shoals."

Adding that "the only certain and permanent relief in the future from the present paralysis of American industry."

The report called attention to the fact that the acceptance of Ford's tender would give him a Government subsidy in the development of power and the manufacture of fertilizer and said:

"It has been claimed that the Ford offer constitutes a subsidy to Mr. Ford. If it is a subsidy, it is not such a subsidy as is proposed by the administration in the ship subsidy bill."

The report then cited a comparison between the Ladd bill and that proposed Federal relief for the merchant marine, showing that the former called for an expenditure of $42,000,000 while the latter required an expenditure of $125,000,000.

In that connection, it was contended, one measure would take the Government out of the shipping business beyond the rate of 1.6 cents a pound, fixed by the Senate Finance Committee after extended hearings, and the other would take it out of the fertilizer and power business. It was also argued in the connection that the Ladd bill would cost the Government "approximately nothing" a year, while the "ship subsidy bill" would necessitate an annual expenditure of $42,000,000.

"If the Ford proposal is not to be supported on the grounds of subsidy," the report stated, "how can the American people support such a subsidy to ship operators as is here proposed?"

Relation to Fuel Problem. Referring to the relationship claimed between Muscle Shoals development and the fuel and transportation emergencies, the report said:

"No electrical railway and no industry served by water power can suffer suspension on account of a fuel supply, because hydroelectric power, both in its production and distribution, is practically free of all labor troubles. Fuel and transportation are the big national problems which now distress our people. Muscle Shoals, with the Ford offer accepted, may furnish an opportunity for the Senate to discover how such fuel and transportation emergencies can be, at least in part, avoided in the future."

The report compared in detail the Ladd and Norris bills pending in the Senate. The Ford offer, it was pointed out, "takes the Government out of the fertilizer and power business."

"The Government member's bill," it said, "sets the Government in the fertilizer and power business."

Requires $64,000,000. The Norris proposal requires direct appropriation by Congress of $64,000,000, without including any estimate for the proposed dams in the upper Tennessee River, "with no guaranteed return of either the principal or interest on same, it was said. On the other hand, the report argued, Muscle Shoals could be developed by Ford under the Ladd bill, "as the interest and sinking fund payments made by Ford will meet interest on such bonds and retire them at the end of the period, except during the short construction and power-loading period."

"Even those of us who are in favor of Government ownership and operation," said the report, "must concede that the Muscle Shoals case is one fraught with the gravest danger of heavy losses if the Government undertakes to work out the fertilizer problem there. No advocate of Government ownership and operation can discount the fact that the Muscle Shoals case is not a good one to select in testing out the policy of Government ownership and operation."

The dangers and the difficulties, many of them specialized and technical, involving problems in the field of commercial chemistry, warn us to be conservative and prudent with the people's money at Muscle Shoals."

Agricultural Benefits. An agricultural benefit to the country by development of the Shoals properties by Ford, the report asserted, will include a large-scale production of fertilizer, "produced under the most favorable manufacturing conditions, maintained at a level of progress in an art that is developing rapidly, and which will reduce the cost of fertilizer."

After reviewing conflicting testimony taken by the committee on the question of how much present fertilizer costs could be reduced at Muscle Shoals, the report asserted, "convincing that there are modern electro-chemical processes which, applied at Muscle Shoals, will reduce the cost of fertilizers, and that the United States should stay out of the business."

"Mr. Ford has agreed to pursue a plan of research and to adopt the results of his investigations, which will compel him to introduce the best available methods, and he has the necessary capital to do so."

"We, therefore, believe that among the most profitable investments which will have to solve at Muscle Shoals will be the selection of the most economical nitrogen fixation process, and therefore it is conceivable that Mr. Ford will be obliged either to develop the United States or to possibly scrap and rebuild the entire nitrogen process equipment."

"Now, since Henry Ford has the cash and has offered to spend it to meet contingencies and dangerous financial risks as we here describe, then, speaking for ourselves, we are willing to let him have a chance to do it, but we are not willing to let the United States have the opportunity to engage in any such speculative industrial ventures."

Cheaper Fertilizer. "A fair consideration of all the facts," the report declared, "leads unmistakably to the conclusion that under the Ford offer the cost of fertilizer delivered to the farmer can be materially reduced."

The report added that from the present fertilizer industry the farmer might expect to receive a profit of 8 per cent, while under the Ford offer the cost of fertilizer would be reduced to 5 per cent, "a saving of 3 per cent, which would be a material benefit to the farmer."

JACOB L. MILLIGAN

Veteran Indicated as Winner Over Democratic State Chairman for Congress in Third District.

INCUMBENTS VICTORS
IN 13 DISTRICTS

Three Candidates Who Had Been Listed by Anti-Saloon League as Dry Are Victorious.

Returns from the primary in the 16 Missouri congressional districts, as told in late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch, show the defeat of two of the present Representatives, Rucker and McPherson, for re-nomination, and the choice of Mrs. St. Clair Moss of Columbia as the Democratic candidate in the Eighth Missouri District. She is the only woman candidate for Congress in Missouri.

The defeat of Charles E. Yancey of Liberty, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, for the nomination in the Third District by Jacob L. Milligan of Richmond, is indicated by incomplete returns from that district. Yancey was a leading opponent of Senator Reed in the 1920 State convention. Milligan is an overseas veteran.

Named as a "Dry." Representative Rucker of the Second District was one of the two Democrats in the State's congressional delegation. Both he and his successful opponent, Ralph Loefer of Crofton, were listed by the Anti-Saloon League as dry. Representative McPherson, Republican, of the Fifteenth, was listed by the Anti-Saloon League as having "favored beer for medicine," while J. J. Malone of Joplin, who won the nomination, was listed as dry.

In the Eighth Mrs. Moss was listed as dry and her two opponents, C. E. Dewey and E. L. Zevely, as wet. In 13 districts, including the three St. Louis districts, the incumbent was re-nominated. In the Sixteenth Representative S. A. Shelton was not a candidate for re-nomination. The nominees in the 16 districts, according to the latest available returns, are:

not be computed in dollars and cents. When to this is added the well-known Ford policies, which mean that the economies will be passed on to the consumer, policies which can be perpetuated and made valid throughout the 100-year lease, irrespective of the life of Mr. Ford, it seems that ordinary business judgment indicates that the American people should have the benefit of the Ford offer. We feel that we must accept Mr. Ford's agreement to sell fertilizer at a profit of 8 per cent as an earnest of the general policy that he may be expected to adopt at Muscle Shoals.

"The Muscle Shoals project development under the Ford offer will contribute to the advancement of American industry by introducing a plan of water-power development which provides the means whereby hydroelectric power ultimately may be secured in the more naturally favored countries such as Canada and Norway."

"Since a hydroelectric plant costs a great deal to construct and but little to operate there is a feature of hydroelectric power economics well known to those in the business that the general public does not appreciate. The items which go to make up the cost of hydroelectric power at the switchboard of the generating station are examined, it is found that under the conditions of

HIGH POINTS OF PENDING TARIFF BILL PREPARED UNDER DIRECTION OF ABOUT DOZEN MEN DOMINATED BY BIG INTERESTS

Much Greater Number Appeared in Behalf of Different Items in Measure Which Fell Under Classification of the Several Schedules.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The high points of the pending tariff bill, according to the well-informed here, were prepared under the direction of about a dozen men. A much greater number appeared in behalf of different items which fell under the general classification of the several schedules and were more or less dominated by the bigger interests.

Senator Frelinghuysen, representative of New Jersey, appears as the outstanding figure in the preparation of the duties on dyestuffs in schedule one, dealing with chemicals. The general impression is that the DuPont interests of Wilmington, Del., were in the background, although they did not appear conspicuously at Washington.

Schedule 2, dealing with earthenware and glassware was dominated by the pottery interests. W. E. Wells of the United States Pottery Association, Newell, W. Va., is said to have played an important part in writing the schedules. A duty averaging 70 per cent on imports of chinaware was written. It was claimed, without justification.

Steel Lobby Active. Schedule 3, "metals and manufactures," was controlled by representatives of the steel industry. The tariff is said to have been conducted for high rates on various articles of steel, especially cutlery. The men accredited with dictating the rates are John Hughes, vice president of the United States Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh; John A. Topping of New York, representing the Republic Iron and Steel Co., and C. A. Buck of Pittsburgh, vice president of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

In writing a tariff on aluminum and metallic manganese, the Aluminum Co. of America of Pittsburgh, popularly known as the property of the Mellon family, controlled the situation. Arthur W. Davis of Pittsburgh represented the company and is accredited with having made a master stroke in the tariff.

The Aluminum company has been trying to get control of metallic manganese, which is lighter than aluminum and which has become a factor in construction and financing existing in the United States, the single item of interest on the investment committee to be disposed of, as requested by Ford, or of permitting the Alabama Power Co. to purchase the Government's interest in that unit, in accordance with the contract executed by the company with the War Department.

"With reference to the contention about the Gorgas steam plant," it said, "we feel that we can make it a whole and not in part as refused by our committee that if my revised offer for Gorgas is rejected, then I must understand that the acceptance of my offer for Muscle Shoals as a whole and not in part is refused."

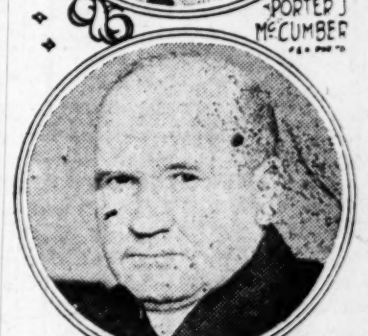

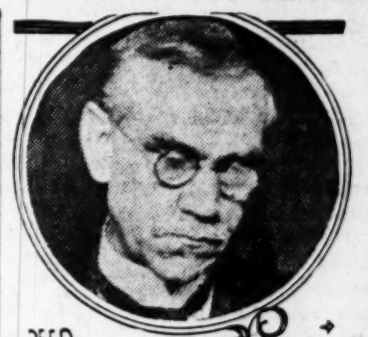

"Therefore, believing as we do, that the United States has every right in the world to accept Mr. Ford's offer for Gorgas, and since Mr. Ford's offer will stand rejected unless his proposal for Gorgas is accepted, we have no difficulty in deciding what ought to be done. We are not unmindful of the interests of the Alabama Power Co., but by a matter of duty we are more mindful of the interests of the Government at Muscle Shoals. The Alabama Power Co. desires Gorgas as an auxiliary to its water power development, and Mr. Ford desires Gorgas as an auxiliary to Muscle Shoals water power development. This phase of the case seems very clear to us."

Agree to 100-Year Lease. The Senators also declared their willingness to agree with Ford's request that the lease on the power projects be for 100 years, rather than for 50 years, as prescribed by the Federal water power act. They asserted that the operations proposed by Ford are on a scale without a parallel and call for an expenditure by him of $50,000,000.

"In view of the fact Mr. Ford must compete in the manufacture of electric furnace products," the report said, "with such concerns as the Aluminum Co. of America, whose rights because of location of their plants on non-navigable streams are not limited by the laws passed by the Federal Government, it is reasonable that there already exists in the country three large plants, none of which have rights for less than 99 years. It seems reasonable that with the responsibilities undertaken by Mr. Ford, it is only fair to allow him a lease period of 100 years."

"In deciding for ourselves whether we will agree to the 100-year lease period, we have come to this conclusion mainly because we believe that if the Ford offer is rejected the Government and the public will lose the responsibility of Government ownership and operation at Muscle Shoals than they will gain by refusing to consent to the 100-year lease period in Henry Ford's offer."

The report concluded with an assurance of protection.

Senators alleged to have been interested in framing of certain schedules of the tariff bill.

Senator Frelinghuysen, Outstanding Figure in Dictating Duties on Dyestuffs With General Impression That DuPont Interests Were in Background.

midable competitor in Germany. The House put a duty on metallic manganese of $1.50 a pound, but the Senate Finance Committee cut the rate to 40 cents a pound, foreign valuation. The Senate duty is the equivalent of 60 per cent foreign valuation. If the house and Senate in conference should compromise $0.50 the duty would be $1.05 a pound, or about 130 per cent.

Impressions as to Sugar. In schedule 4, "wood and manufactures of," there was no outstanding figure. In schedule 5, "sugar," Senator Reed Smoot, Republican, of Utah, is regarded as the person who wrote the rates.

In schedule 6 (tobacco) there was little discussion. Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, chairman of the Finance Committee, is understood to have given close attention to the preparation of schedule 7, "agriculture, products and provisions."

Schedule 8, "spirits, wines and other beverages," created no master champion, owing to the exigencies of the situation as respects prohibition. Schedule 9 (cotton) was dictated by Henry F. Lippitt of Rhode Island, former Senator and manufacturer of cotton goods.

Lucius N. Littauer of New York, representing the manufacturers of cotton gloves, prescribed the rates thereon. A rate of $2 to $5 a dozen was fixed where gloves were not over 11 inches long, with 10 cents additional for each inch additional.

Schedule 10 dealt with flax, hemp and silk. Two Dictated Wool Schedules. Schedule 11, "wool and manufactures of," is said to have been dominated by John P. Wood, Boston, representing the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, with Senator Gooding, representative of Idaho, leading champion and defender on the floor of the Senate.

William V. Compston, Yorkers, N. Y., is said to have outlined the duties for hats. He is chairman of the National Association of Fur and Wool Hat Manufacturers.

Horace B. Cheney, chairman of the Textile Commission of the Silk Association of America, was the controlling spirit in the preparation of Schedule 12, "silk and silk goods."

LONDON, Aug. 4.—With no limitation of air armaments in sight, Great Britain now plans to build a fleet of 500 airplanes for home defense. Critics of the extension of the air fleet regard it as putting a premium on air armaments.

Premier Lloyd George announced this big building program in the Commons yesterday, saying the decision resulted from an inquiry by the Committee on Defense of the Empire. At the present time Britain has 31 squadrons, only 12 of which are in the British Isles.

France, however, will have, at the end of next year, fully 320 squadrons, besides several hundred machines which can be drawn from civil aviation in the event of an emergency. It will cost nearly $2,000,000 annually to maintain the new British home defense air force.

The Premier indicated that if necessary there would be a further extension of the air service. It is understood that orders for aero engines will be divided among five firms. It also is expected the new air fleet will include an anti-submarine type machine which recently has been developed here, and that Handley-Page will be encouraged to go ahead with his "Slowing" type, whereby the surface of the wing is made to expand and open out in flight like the feathers of birds' wings. It is regarded as one of the most notable advances in aerodynamic design in recent years.

For many months there has been strong agitation to develop a powerful air fleet, because it has been argued Britain would be helpless in the face of air attack in another war and that her docks, cities, munition plants lay the mercy of the enemy. The Government finally has had to sanction the building of the air fleet demanded.

Navy Speaker Says Special Correspondents Should Be Taken Into Confidence of State Department.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WILMINGTON, Mass., Aug. 4.—What the public looks for in its newspapers was described at the Institute of Politics today at a conference on foreign journalism under the chairmanship of Arthur H. Draper.

A Harvard professor said: "The foreign correspondence which appears in the best of our American newspapers is of very poor quality and of very good quality and of reasonable quantity. I would not mean to say that the quality is all that is to be desired nor would I say that the variety is poor. I feel, very frequently, it is a delight to find a newspaper which prints in full an important speech or a political pronouncement. I cannot believe that the majority of special correspondents are well enough acquainted with history, politics and economics to be able to interpret a certain event in the proper way."

This by no means is an indictment of the fault of the correspondents, but is the fault of the newspapers which allows men to represent them who are not experts in the particular field which they are supposed to cover. I feel that special signed articles on foreign affairs are a very potent influence in the formation of public opinion perhaps nearly as important as editorials, and, therefore, I think it advisable to improve that class of work as much as possible."

"Less Jumping About." A woman member from Pittsburgh said: "Throughout the country we want more information and news. International which is interpretive. It is probably exceedingly difficult for those in the profession to realize how little the general public comprehends. Its imagination—its sagacity—is very limited. Therefore the need for wider circulation of news—intelligible news—is very great and to intelligibly circulate that news we must have more correspondents who before they are great correspondents are great men with eyes to see and ears to hear. Men, with objective and imaginative minds, and with imagination, not only of international events but of the limited vision of the man who is to read."

A college professor of 20 years' standing, now librarian in an Eastern university, said that outside the great metropolitan dailies the amount of foreign news printed was wholly inadequate. While residing in Nevada he had found the San Francisco papers more inadequate than the small dailies and preferred to wait four days for the arrival of the New York papers before reading any news.

Supporting this opinion a clergyman, who said that for improvement in foreign news I should like to see a more continuous treatment of vital topics and less jumping about to say something startling. "Off days" are a vivid account of what is happening in Ireland. I look the next day to see what the outcome has been and I find nothing. Perhaps for several days the papers have almost no Irish news and then news almost entirely unconnected with what I saw at first. The same thing is true, of course, about the news from China, Turkey, Greece, Russia and the rest."

Should Have Federal Confidence. A woman member from New England said that on the whole she had much faith in the news columns of the papers she read. In her opinion some of the papers published too little news, but none too much.

"I sometimes wish," she said, "that accounts of events and conditions would go more deeply into causes and that the disposition of unacceptable theories and opinions might be accompanied by reasons rather than snappy remarks."

Interests Said to Have Majority of One in Senate for 2-Cent Duty on Cuban, 2½ From Other Countries

By Leased Wire From New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Information reached the Post-Dispatch last night that the sugar lobby at Washington is largely responsible for the hasty agreement reached Wednesday by Democratic and Republican Senators under which it was attempted to cut short debate on the tariff bill and force a final vote on Aug. 17. Fear that investigation provoked by charges over the wool schedule would have secret deals made on other schedules, principally sugar, is believed to have played an important part.

The statement was made on good authority that the best sugar interests have obtained a majority of one vote for a tariff of 2 cents on sugar imported from Cuba and 2½ cents on sugar from other countries. This will impose a tax estimated at more than $30,000,000 on the American table. This is in addition to the sum which would be collected at the lower rate of 1.6 for Cuba, reported by the Senate Finance Committee, namely $182,000,000. In other words, an addition to the cost of the breakfast cup of nearly $200,000,000 a year.

According to a secret poll of the Senate, the best sugar combine counts on the votes of seven Democratic Senators to jam through the high schedule. These Senators, it is asserted, are Edwin S. Bruns, Louisiana; Joseph P. Kamp, Louisiana; Andrew A. Jones, New Mexico; Henry F. Ashurst, Arizona; Charles A. Culberson, Texas; Morris Sheppard, Texas, and John D. Kendrick, Wyoming.

Sen. McCumber Claimed. Led by Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, who is slated to be the next chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, as a result of the defeat of Senator McCumber of North Dakota, the round-up of the sugar Senators is said to exceed 40 Republicans and with the Democrats, to give a sure majority.

Among the Republicans listed as having been won over to the increase beyond the rate of 1.6 cents a pound, fixed by the Senate Finance Committee after extended hearings, are James Watson, Indiana; Garry S. New, Indiana; Frank B. Willis, Ohio; William B. McKinley, Illinois; George W. Pepper, Pennsylvania; Knute Nelson, Minnesota; Frank Kellogg, Minnesota; Henry W. Brewster, Connecticut, and George P. McLean, Connecticut.

Those classed as doubtful but leaning toward the best sugar raid include Coleman DuPont, Delaware; L. H. Ball, Delaware, and Davis E. Ellis, West Virginia.

Senators Borah of Idaho, Spencer of Missouri and Calder and Wadsworth of New York, all Republicans, are stated to have repulsed every effort to induce them to go into the best sugar camp.

Best Sugar Lobby Busy. For weeks the best sugar lobby has been trying to offset the recent exposure in the New York World regarding the attempt to "blackmail Cuba" into limiting its sugar production to 2,500,000 tons and subsequent activities of Alfred Grover, and his United States and Cuba Sugar Producers' agreement syndicate, incorporated in attempting to collect $12,000,000 from refiners of Cuban sugar in this country.

Although Grover claimed to have knowledge of a "congressional agreement" and to speak with authority, Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee of the House was the only member who would admit having talked with him about sugar rates.

It is represented that practically all the obstacles resulting from these exposures have been ironed out through the constant work of the best sugar interests, and the way now seems clear for a reasonably quick wind-up on the tariff and the forcing up of the sugar rates.

Results of primaries in several states are counted on to make sure members indifferent to any "public clamor" that may arise from the ruthless program said to have been determined upon. Senator McCumber is serving his last term, having been defeated for re-nomination. Culberson has just lost out in his fight for re-nomination in Texas, and Senator New of Indiana is out of the running, having been defeated by Spencer.

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN FOR MILK FUND BENEFIT

Arrangements are progressing rapidly for the elaborate vaudeville review which members of Fred W. Stockham Post, No. 245, American Legion, will present at the Orpheum Theater the evening of Aug. 26 for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, and the enthusiasm displayed at the daily rehearsal demonstrates the spirit of co-operation which is most commendable. Perhaps the infectious "pep" of Frank Moulan has something to do with it. As F. E. Turin, head of the Publicity Committee of the affair, puts it: "You couldn't pay me to miss a rehearsal when Mr. Moulan is in charge."

Today at the weekly luncheon of the Stockham Post at the American Annex Hotel, Moulan was the guest of honor and provided several entertaining numbers for the diversion of those present. At the close of the meeting he was presented with a solid silver cigarette case as a token of appreciation from Stockham Post for the time and efforts he is giving toward the success of the coming show.

One of the distinctive features of the vaudeville review is the product of some member of Stockham Post, and every program number will be put on, both male and female characters, by Stockham Post members. Stockham Post is solidly behind the show, and its efforts are heartily seconded by everyone approached for assistance.

One of the earliest evidences of the general spirit of co-operation is a communication from the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association, Local No. 2, American Federation of Musicians, stating that the Directors has passed a resolution permitting its members to volunteer services for both the dress rehearsal and the regular performance. As has already been stated, use of the Orpheum Theater has been donated by the Orpheum Circuit.

Tickets for the show will be on sale downtown early next week.

MISS FARRAR WOULD BUY CASTLE

Actress Negotiating for Estate of Late Edward F. Searies.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LYNN, Mass., Aug. 4.—Geraldine Farrar is to find succor from the memory of her marital difference with Leo Trillagan in "The Castle of Chemo," the house at Methuen, which for many years was occupied by Edward F. Searies, New York millionaire. It became known yesterday that the opera star has been negotiating for the purchase of "The Castle," she having been there with her concert manager, C. J. Foley, later visiting a real estate dealer in Lawrence, who has the disposition of the estate.

The estate covers about 400 acres. It is surrounded by a huge stone wall which will bar out the curious and undesirable.

Rockefeller's Granddaughter, in France, Says It Is Exciting Time for Her.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
CHERBOURG, France, Aug. 4.—Miss Mathilde M'Cormick, 17-year-old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, arrived here today on the liner Majestic, but, contrary to expectations, she was not met by either her father, Harold P. M'Cormick, or by her fiancé, Maj. Max Oser, Swiss riding master.
This is the most exciting morning of her life, exclaims Miss M'Cormick. She was on the point of saying more when her Scandinavian maid shot a warning glance at the head stewardess. The stewardess shot around a corner and immediately Uncle Cyrus M'Cormick put in an appearance, ending all further attempts at conversation.
It is known that Oser obtained a passport to visit France, but to no one has been found who has seen him here. Oser was reported to be in Paris today. Harold P. M'Cormick is seen in Paris daily in the presence of Mrs. Emma Wabaka, beautiful Polish grand opera singer.

STEVENSON'S REQUIEM AT BURIAL OF BELL

Phone Inventor's Body in Pine Coffin Will Be Put in Mountain Top Tomb Tonight.

By the Associated Press.
SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 4.—The body of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell will be buried this evening from the home on Beinn Breagh Mountain, which he had occupied for 35 successive summers. At sunset, interment will be made in a granite tomb blasted in the summit of the mountain, a part of the Bell estate.
A coffin of rugged hard pine, lined with airplane linen, and having handles of hand-forged iron, will envelop the body of the kindly old man of genius. The coffin was made in the inventor's own workshop and by the laboratory staff that built the structures needed in his research and experimental work.

The casket will be borne from the old home on the shoulders of the workmen of the estate to one of the inventor's own carriages. His own coachman will take the body on the drive up the mountain road through the forest to the summit, the highest point in Eastern Nova Scotia.

Friends will gather at the tomb and join in singing well-known hymns. Longfellow's psalm of life, long a favorite with Mr. and Mrs. Bell, will be read, and Robert Louis Stevenson's requiem sung. These will be followed by the Lord's Prayer and the benediction, after which the body of Dr. Bell will be laid in the tomb.

The requiem reads:
"Under the wide and starry sky
Dig the grave and let me lie.
Glad did I live and glory die,
And I laid me down with a will."
Among messages of condolence received were those from: William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States; James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor; New York American Society of Civil Engineering; American Institute of Mining Engineering; American Society of Mechanical Engineers; American Institute of Electrical Engineers; and United Engineering Society, representing the engineering profession in America.

Expressions of sympathy also were received from Lord Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Byng.

One-Minute Telephone Suspension Here Today in Memory of Bell.
Service over the entire Bell telephone system will be suspended for one minute at 6:25 p. m. (Eastern time) today, which is 5:25 p. m. here, in tribute to Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

At a signal a few seconds before 6:25 p. m. here operators over the entire country will remain quiet. No connections will be broken at that time, none will be made. Should a number be given to the operator as the signal is sounded, the call will not be made until the minute is up.
There are approximately 105,000 telephones in St. Louis and suburbs, operated by 400 "centrals." More than 60,000 operators over the United States and Canada will remain silent while the 13,000,000 telephones are idle.

EDWARD CLEARY, ADVENTURER, FALLS DEAD IN LONDON STATION

American Had Been Actor, Producer, Promoter and a War Correspondent in World War.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 4.—An inquest was held today in the case of Edward Cleary, an American and a theatrical producer, actor, playwright, promoter, war correspondent and adventurer, who died yesterday while buying a ticket at a railroad station.
Cleary, aged 55, was the son of a Kentucky Judge. He studied for the priesthood at Mount St. Mary's Seminary in Kentucky and later read law. He appeared in a stock company at the old Bowery Theater in New York. He came to London 33 years ago with Edwin Booth and played various Shakespearean roles. Subsequently Cleary became a producer and took a company through South Africa. He directed the building of a railroad in Africa and later started a newspaper in Cairo. One of his other ventures was the taking of Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, to America, where the Wright brothers prevented him from flying. Cleary introduced night football playing, which also proved to be a financial failure.
He served the Daily Express as war correspondent during the late war. Recently he invented an oil burning wickless lamp, with which he expected to make a fortune. He was going to Manchester in connection with this invention when he fell dead.

FOUR INDICTMENTS IN NALTY MURDER CASE

Three Men Also Accused of Robbing Tri-City State Bank of Madison, July 10.

Indictments were returned today by the Madison County grand jury, reconvened in special session, against Mrs. Bernice Traynor, George O'Malley, Lyle Watkins and George Ayers, all of St. Louis, for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Patrick J. Nealty at Granite City two weeks ago. There are seven counts in each of the indictments.

Nealty was killed when he attempted to question the men when they visited the room of Mrs. Traynor in the Newman Hotel.

The four were also indicted for assault to kill on Rose Johnson, Henry Meyer and Ephraim Teaney, Granite City policemen, Johnson was wounded.

James Hennessy, arrested with the others, was not indicted for murder or assault to kill, but was indicted, along with O'Malley and Watkins, on the charge of robbing the Tri-City State Bank of Madison July 10 of $13,192.55. The three also are indicted on the charge of robbing the garage of Arthur Steltz at Madison, June 21, of 15 automobile tires, and holding up a young man and robbing him of $15.90.

All the indicted persons are locked up in the Edwardsville jail.

MOONE SEEKS SECOND COUNT OF BALLOTS FOR COMMITTEE

Elmer Moone, defeated for reelection as Twentieth Ward Republican Committeeman, on the face of the returns, by John J. Hurley, by 16 votes, filed a contest today with the Election Board, alleging that he did not receive a fair count, and asking that the ballot boxes be opened in the Seventh, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-second Precincts.

The contest is brought under a law passed by the last Legislature permitting any candidate, on filing an affidavit alleging an unfair count, to have recourse to a recount. The ballot boxes of the disputed precincts will be opened this afternoon and the recount begun.

The count began today of the vote for State Senators, State Representatives, Justices of the Peace and Constables, which were not included in the count that was made for newspapers. It will require two or three days.

WOMAN WAITING IN CAR FOR HUSBAND ROBBED OF PURSE

Revolver, Auto and $146 in Cash Taken in Four Robberies in 12 Hours.

A revolver, an automobile and $146 in cash was the loot taken in four robberies last night and early this morning.

Charles Anderson, 2511 West Hebert street, reported to police here that he had been robbed of $1 and his car near Seventeenth and Madison streets in Granite City at 11:15 p. m. Granite City police today notified St. Louis police that they had engaged the two men in a revolver fight, possibly wounding one, after which the two escaped towards St. Louis.

While sitting in a taxicab at 12:30 a. m. waiting for her husband, who was in a restaurant buying some lunch to take to their home, Mrs. Oscar E. Hollinger, 3867 Shaw avenue, was robbed of a purse containing $35. She saw the robber loitering near the car after the chauffeur had left to buy a cigar, and becoming suspicious, hid diamonds, which she valued at $2000, in her dress. The robber did not get them.

Albert Diess was held up in his saloon at 4412 North Broadway by two men. The robbers took $15 from the cash register and a revolver. Diess was forced to lie on the floor behind the bar.

As Lester Hopson, Hillsboro, Mo., started to board a Broadway car at Tesson street at 7:15 p. m., two men jostled him. The two men walked on through the car and got off the front end at the next stop. Hopson discovered he had been robbed of $95.

SIX HURT WHEN TRUCK HITS CAR

Six persons were injured at 3 p. m. yesterday when a drayage truck driven by William Bachman, a chauffeur, of 706 Chouteau avenue, and a Lee avenue car collided at Chippewa street and Oregon avenue. Bachman and his helper, Chester Carr, a negro, of 2006 Carr street, were thrown from the truck. The passengers on the car who complained of cuts and bruises were Mrs. C. Redwig, 3653 Lierman avenue, Mrs. Anna Cingstar, 4334 Delor street; Mrs. J. M. Schneider, 3803 Folsom avenue, and P. O. Roet, 2219 Osage street. Policemen investigating the accident arrested both Bachman and the motorman of the car, George Solter, 2709 Hickory street, charging them with careless driving. The truck was northbound, and the street car eastbound.

WHAT DID YOU SEE TODAY?

Volunteer Reporters Tell the Post-Dispatch of the Interesting, Unusual and Often Humorous Incidents They Encounter.

It may sometimes be necessary to go away from home to get the news, but there are interesting occurrences in almost any home, which are as suitable for narration as the street car and traffic incidents that form the regular grist of the What-Did-You-See-Today department. The first of the following contributions is a charming idyl of domestic life. Let's hear from other homes. For each contribution printed, $1 is paid.

A TRUE HELPER.
When I awoke today, my wife had her hair rolled in newspapers. So I read the news in bed. Stier was bathing 410 over her left ear. Babe Ruth got two homes runs over the right, and a piano company was having a sale around the capital region. Some service!
ROBERT JULIAN, 3638 Finney Avenue.

HERE'S A HERO.
My attention was drawn to a man who had "something on his hip." But he wasn't a bootlegger. He was carrying a squalling infant, and in his pocket he carried a nursing bottle. From which milk splashed occasionally, dropping gently down his trousers' leg.
MRS. L. B. HART,
1315 North Jefferson Avenue.

HAS 'EM TRAINED.
While walking through Forest Park recently, I decided to see the new bear pits. While watching the bears, a man came up and pointing his finger at one of the bears, told the animal to stand up and salute. To my surprise the bear obeyed his command.
HAROLD DIEHL, 5544 Landowne Avenue.

LOOK OUT, DEMPSEY.
Three little boys in our neighborhood had a real bout. Two with boxing gloves on, stepped to the center of the "ring," and as a third rang a bell, shook hands and went to it. One pretended to be hit and fell, the other pretending he had given his adversary an uppercut. The third boy counted 10 and then raised the victor's arm. The defeated youngster was rubbed and scrubbed, all three enjoying greatly their imitation of fights they had seen in the movies.
ETTA GRODSKY,
1503 Wash street.

FLAPPER DONATES PILLOW.
While walking past the Pierce building during today's busy noon hour I saw a cat stretched out and sound asleep, with its head resting on a dainty pink power-puff.
L. MENNER, 6420 Wise Avenue.

NOTHING IN THEIR LIVES.
I saw a Ford smash into a truck. The radiator and fan wheel of the Ford were torn off. Two negroes who were in the Ford got out, looked at the damaged parts, threw them into the machine, and laughingly drove on.
G. B. 3820 McKee Avenue.

BE WATCHFUL.
I was walking down the street when a man approached me and begged a dime. Being of a compassionate nature, I paused to extract the dime, meanwhile thanking my stars I was not as unfortunate as he. I went on and wishing to see what time it was, sought to take out my watch. The beggar had done that for me. ROBERT FRANKLIN 751 North Seventh St.

A VEXING PROBLEM.
I saw a well dressed woman drop a penny on the sidewalk. A ragged urchin ran up to her with the penny. She took it and thanked him profusely. But who can buy a lollipop with a thank you?

IT TAKES STUDY.
I am a stranger in St. Louis. The other day I wanted to mail some letters. I walked down to the corner letter box, but didn't know how to manipulate the mechanism so as to deposit the letter. Rather than appear like a "greenhorn" to passers-by, I took the letters back to where I was staying.
HELEN WISELY,
Coulterville, Ill.

"WHO AM I?" HE CRIED.
The other day as I was walking down the street an elderly man accosted me. "Is this you?" he asked. "Yes," I answered, "but who are you?" "Mitchell," he said. "I don't know you," I replied. "Then it ain't you," the man said.

ACCOMMODATING.
At a grocer's on a Thirty-ninth street cracked eggs are offered for sale at a lower price. A boy came in and asked for 20 cents worth of cracked eggs. The grocer said he was out of them and the boy started out, when the grocer called out, "Wait a minute, bud, I'll crack you some." And he did!
M. NEWMAN,
1647A E. Thirty-ninth street.

THAT BIG LONE STAR.
Yesterday while down town, I saw a Texas car with a license No. 636920. Texas has a fourth more population than Missouri and more than twice as many automobiles. A few minutes later I saw a car bearing an Illinois license No. 355555. This also is larger than any for Missouri could be.
LOUISE FRENCH, 6015 Pershing Ave.

VIVID COMBINATION.
I saw in the yard next door a Cana in full bloom, one half of the flower was a beautiful yellow and the other half was a deep scarlet. To be positive that I was not looking at two different flowers, I went over and examined it and found that both the colors belonged to one flower, and on the one stalk.

MARY MURRAY,
4223 Leclaire Avenue.
THEY DO LOOK ALIKE.
I saw a young man in a sparsely furnished street car change seats several times, moving nearer the front each time. On his fourth move he sat down beside a blonde girl, adjusted his tie and hat, and turned to speak to her. Then he saw her face and his own turned red. For the girl was a stranger. The boy jumped out of the seat and into another, where he stayed the rest of the trip.

Inquiring Into Poplar Bluff Shooting.
By the Associated Press.
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Aug. 4.—Circuit Judge Almon Ing has ordered a special grand jury to be convoked to investigate the shooting of two negroes, who were wounded last Sunday, when Sheriff Hogg, several of his deputies and national guardsmen, on strike duty here, arrested 25 men in a field south of the city on charges of gambling. The sheriff insists he ordered his men not to shoot, but that the shots were fired when the men attempted to flee.

MARRIED TO TWO BROTHERS BUT IS WIFE OF NEITHER

Woman Now Seeks to Get Rid of Both of Them, Perhaps to Remarry One.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 4.—Involved in one of the most unusual marital mixups ever to come before the Superior Court, Mrs. Gertrude M. Ford, who had married two brothers, but is the wife of neither, today endeavored to get rid of both of them in order that she might possibly remarry one of them. As the first step in the procedure, the woman sought to obtain certification that a decree divorcing her from Walter H. Ford had been signed by an Eastern court. When this is accomplished, Judge Summerfield said that he would grant an annulment of Mrs. Ford's marriage to Percy H. Ford, brother of the first husband.

Final Sweep

OF ALL SUMMER AND MEDIUM WEIGHT CLOTHING AT LOWEST PRICES IN 8 YEARS

Not since 1914 have such prices been offered—and only through extreme efforts are we able to do so now. But the unchanging Wall policy demands that no goods be carried from one season to another; so, to effect an immediate clearance, prices have been cut to the quick. Come tomorrow and take full advantage of these sensational bargains. Most of the garments are in medium weights, suitable for year-round wear, so you'll save money by buying now, for many months to come.

$20, $25 and $30 WOOLEN SUITS

The greatest bargain event we have ever attempted! Over one thousand fine-woolen suits, many from our own matchless stock and many others just purchased at advantageous cash discounts. Beautifully tailored of all-wool flannels, cassimeres, worsteds and Scotchies in the season's newest patterns. Sport, form-fitting and conservative models. All are in medium weights, suitable for immediate or for Fall wear. Sizes 34 to 46 chest. Actual $20, $25 and $30 values for $15.

CARDS IN FIRST PLACE AFTER GIANTS' DEFEAT, TAKE LEAD OVER PHILS

By Joseph F. Holland,
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—In first place as a result of the defeat of the Giants by the Cubs in the first game of their double-header today, the Cardinals faced the Phils this afternoon with their strongest front, determined to win and hold the lead.

Bill Sherdel, southpaw and ace of the staff, was Rickey's pitching selection. Sherdel was opposed by Sheriff John Singleton, who has given the Cardinals one run in 18 innings he has pitched against them up to today.

Only about 2000 fans were in the stands at game time. Shilton Stock got a lucky home run in the first inning when Mukan slipped trying for a shoestring catch of his liner to left.

Another run came in the second when Mueller beat out a hit and got around on safe smashes by Toporcer and Almsmith.

The third inning saw the finish of Singleton. Eight Rickeymen batted in this inning and five of them got around. George Smith suffered part of the attack. Stock and Jack Smith got doubles in this session.

Williams hit a homer with a man on base in the Phil's half. The Rickeymen continued their hitting in the fourth, when singles by Black and Hornsby, with Stock's sacrifice, ran their total up to eight.

FIRST INNING. CARDINALS—Rickeymen knocked down Black's smash and threw him out. Stock got a home run to left when Mukan fell as he tried for a shoestring catch. Smith fled to Mukan. Wrightstone threw out Hornsby. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING. CARDINALS—Mueller beat out a hit to Fletcher and went to second when Fletcher threw past first. Fournier fled to Mukan. Toporcer hit to right, sending Mueller to right. Almsmith singled to right, scoring Mueller and sending Toporcer to third. Sherdel topped to Fletcher. Fletcher threw out Black. ONE RUN.

PHILADELPHIA—Mukan fled to Mueller. Fletcher also fled to Mueller. Lee hunted safely. Henkle forced Lee, Stock to Hornsby. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING. CARDINALS—Stock doubled to left center. Jack Smith doubled to right, scoring Stock. Hornsby walked. Mueller bunted and the bases were filled when Henkle threw late to third, trying for Jack Smith. Fournier singled to left, scoring Jack Smith and Hornsby. Mueller going to third. Fournier took second on the throw home. George Smith replaced Singleton on the mound for Philadelphia. Fletcher threw out Toporcer. Fletcher scoring and Fournier taking third. Almsmith sent a sacrifice fly to Williams and Fournier scored. Jimmy Smith threw out Sherdel. FIVE RUNS.

PHILADELPHIA—George Smith fouled to Fournier. Wrightstone beat out a hit to Stock and went to second when Stock threw into the line. Jim Smith hit to Toporcer. Lead Wrightstone was caught at third. Williams hit a home run over the right field wall for his eighteenth of the season, scoring Jimmy Smith ahead of him. Walker fouled to Almsmith. TWO RUNS.

PHILADELPHIA—Mukan fled to Jack Smith. Fletcher fouled to Fournier. Lee popped to Almsmith in front of the plate. NO RUNS.

FIVE RUNS. PHILADELPHIA—George Smith fouled to Fournier. Wrightstone beat out a hit to Stock and went to second when Stock threw into the line. Jim Smith hit to Toporcer. Lead Wrightstone was caught at third. Williams hit a home run over the right field wall for his eighteenth of the season, scoring Jimmy Smith ahead of him. Walker fouled to Almsmith. TWO RUNS.

ARMY HORSES FAVORED TO WIN ENDURANCE RUN
By the Associated Press.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 4.—Another contestant in the Colorado Springs endurance ride was eliminated yesterday when the judges ruled out St. Michael, the cow-boy entry of B. A. Fring, a Colorado Springs ranchman. The horse showed signs of excessive fatigue less than three hours after the ride started yesterday. The remaining nine entries finished the third day's grind of 40 miles in good condition.

As a result of three days' ride, the entries of the United States army are the ruling favorites. Jerry, ridden by Capt. C. C. Lattimore of Fort Sill, Oklahoma, has a low mark of 24 hours 25 minutes for the three days. Norfolk Star, ridden by Capt. W. E. Watkins of Fort Ransom, Wyo., is next with 24 hours 44 minutes, and Maltine Cat, the polo pony ridden by Lafayette House of Denver, is third with 24 hours 2 minutes.

Ty Cobb went hitless in the first game against the Boston Red Sox yesterday, after crashing the gates in 16 contests. In the second game he made two triples and scored two runs. Hallmann drove in his seventeenth homer in the afterpiece with one man on base.

His Homers Beat the Mackmen

BABY DOLL JACOBSON.

Who hit a homer with two men on base, in the first inning, yesterday, put a second homer in right field bleachers later in the game and drove in a run with a single—accounting for five tallies in all.

Back to Africa is their slogan. A motley array of uniforms in a parade of the delegates to the convention of the Universal Negro Improvement Association in New York, the purpose of which is to transplant all American negroes to Africa. Every officer in the parade seemed to have picked the uniform he liked best. (1) Marcus Garvey, High Commissioner General. (2) Left to right: Supreme Deputy Marks and Supreme Potentate Johnson.

What the Girl Who Plays Tennis Should Wear

The Ideal Costume Is One Which Will Look Spick and Span After the Most Strenuous Set and Yet Give a Maximum of Comfort

By MARGERY WELLS.

(Copyright, 1922.)
So many extra hours for exercise! So many moments for sports in the late afternoons! Are you one of the tennis enthusiasts? And what clothes are you wearing to make yourself comfortable while about your favorite sport?

Now this is the big idea: How to look spick and span while at the same time you are putting every ounce of your energy into the following of an exciting game. It isn't so easy a matter to get all hot and sticky and to finish your match looking as fresh as a daisy. Indeed, that is a feat supposed to be monopolized by the few endowed by heaven with that enviable gift of always looking as though they had just stepped from a handbox. But supply all, it amounts to a certain supply of good sense exhibited at the time you are planning your summer clothes.

There are certain frocks which look good all the way through a game of tennis and after it is over for several more hours. But there are certain others which are destined to wilt away in the course of a heated game, until they eventually become mere shadows of their former selves and leave their wearers looking as though she had gone through about everything imaginable to attaining the winning of the game.

Well, Lenglen established a new style when she was in this country, and this year more than one tennis girl is following her good example. She wore a one-piece dress of white China silk made extra full in the skirt and with a free and easy cut to the waist. It was the coolest and nicest, not to say the most becoming thing that she could have thought out. And this year, with the more-than-usual vogue for white, it finds an especial place of notice in the hearts of all the younger girls who have their notions set upon the game of tennis as their own peculiar expression of sports and the way they are done.

Then, with a headpiece of white ribbon bound tightly around any straying locks and tied in a knot directly in back, you have something which not only looks cool but is cool, and which lasts through the ravages of the game with the most astonishing will to look charming until all the festivities are over.

Some of the girls are liking sweaters far better than any other sort of tennis costume. Of course, there is always the white skirt to go with them, and, whether you wear a sweater of white or one of color, or even one made of two or more shades, you will always want to have a white skirt of some sort to go with it.

In the future, the tennis girl is wearing white linen knickers with a white sweater. She creates a spot upon the landscape which stands out by itself and succeeds in being most colorful. Now she could wear khaki knickers, which, after all, are so easy to obtain and which, with one of the rainbow-striped sweaters, make the sportiest sort of a get-up. Or she could even, if it were a coolish day, wear the knickers from her homespun suit with a sweater or with merely a tailored silk blouse to carry out the scheme.

The sleeveless jackets are much liked by the girls who are playing tennis regularly. They are becoming enough to make a tennis costume beautiful, and then they can be so easily removed when the game grows sufficiently warm and exciting to warrant the removing and putting aside of all extra clothing.

There is an especially smart one of this type. It is made of jade green flannel and is bound with white silk braid. Then it is worn with a white flannel skirt, and all is well!

Now, as for a hat! Well, when it comes to the actual game, a hat is the last requisite necessary. But to and from it is almost always a necessity. The hat that turns up all the way round and hangs down peacefully about the ears (as the girl who is shown at the right gives every freedom for action. It has knickers and a thin sweater for this season of the year.

The sleeveless jacket below has a place of its own in the wardrobe of the tennis girl.

one worn with the sleeveless jacket), is chosen by most tennis girls. It is a satisfactory adjunct to the costume chosen, whatever it is; and whether the hat is made of leghorn or silk or felt, it is bound to serve its purpose through all sorts of weather and all kinds of games.

Women who have hand looms are doing some wonderful work in hand-woven rugs that are a delight to the eye. Primitive and old Indian designs are being used for the rugs, many following patterns already familiar in basketry. Some are even weaving them in chenille, which is a new thing.

Hand-knitted rugs, such as women on remote farms used to make, are having a revival, and they make very pretty runners for halls or for nurseries, though they are not as pretty as the crocheted or hand-woven varieties. No matter how gay the colors in these rugs may be, they never offend the eye.

Knitted rugs of cotton goods may be sewed into round hit-or-miss rugs, as they are called, and they wear very well for a cheap rug. All these old-fashioned rugs look well in rooms where painted or old colonial furniture is used. The hooked rugs are by far the most artistic and most difficult to make. The new sacking or burlap is stretched tightly on a frame, then the rugs, either of worsted or wool, are hooked through with a wooden handled hook. The pattern is generally sketched on the burlap and the rug is made from the border into the center. This method allows more exact following of the pattern. When finished and clipped the burlap is neatly and firmly hemmed at the edge.

As women appreciate more and more the use of the dye-pot, they are buying regular rag rugs at the shops at very reasonable prices, then dyeing them to match the different rooms they are to be used in. The dye colors the white parts the desired shade, and the colored parts are a shade darker, which makes the contrast needed.

Gathered rugs woven on a warp are thick and fluffy to step on, but they are not as attractive as the other varieties mentioned. Still, another version of the rug with burlap as a foundation is the one done

The tennis suit shown at the right gives every freedom for action. It has knickers and a thin sweater for this season of the year.

The Rhyming Optimist

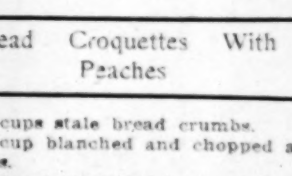

By Aline Michaelis

The Busy Man.

I have friends who are busy, one owns a chain of stores; with speed to make one dizzy he hastens on his chores. One is a rising farmer, one is a railroad king, one manufactures armor, one's in the sawdust ring. I've often watched with pity my poet friend who tries to write a soulful ditty about his lady's eyes. He labors many hours with all his might and main, he tries his mental powers to find a rhyme for Jane. Yet he and other workers who ply the pen or hoe seem but the rankest shirkers compared with my friend Joe.

To many folk in passing Joe's days seem calm enough; they never think of classing his life with tragic stuff. But, ah, he's worn and weary, for his life is his task—to answer every query his 6-year-old can ask! As the sun is yellow and why the trees are green, and what makes peaches mellow and why's a queen a queen? Yes, Daddy Joe must listen to simple things like these—why do the rain drops glisten and why do birds like trees? Now, other men have hours when they can rest and muse, and spend in picking flowers or shining up their shoes. But Joe knows no vacations from artless inquiries as to the cook's relations and what first starts the breeze; and he must bravely answer and tell young Toddlekins what runs a barefoot dandee and why a fish has fins.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 192—Incombustible Handkerchief.

A handkerchief is passed slowly through the flame of a candle without receiving the slightest injury. The trick is done very easily. Twist the handkerchief tightly, and in drawing it through the flame do not allow it to remain motionless. Draw the handkerchief upward at an angle. As long as it is kept in motion there is no danger. Do not use a handkerchief that has been perfumed, as the scented preparation may be highly combustible.

A Man's Way

By Ruby M. Ayers

CHAPTER XXIV.

Disillusionment.

MOLLY was staring at her husband's face. She still held the message in her hand, he forced himself to meet her eyes. "Mr. Fernald is dead," she said. Her voice was almost expressionless; her face white. Suddenly she leaned across and gripped his arm.

"Why does she telephone to you?" she asked. "What does it matter to you if he is dead or not?"

Harden tried to laugh. He was cursing himself for his momentary loss of self-control. He leaned forward and, taking the fateful message from Molly, he crushed it into a pocket.

"Why are you looking so tragic?" he asked. He tried to put his arm around her, but she shivered from him. There was a sort of frightened look in her eyes.

"She needn't have telephoned to you! What's it got to do with you?" she asked him again. "Oh, leave me alone, leave me alone! I am not a child to be put off with excuses and excuses. I knew all along that she liked you; I knew that she hated it because you wanted to marry me." She stared, breathless and panting. "Did you want to marry me?" she asked tragically. She flung her question at him; it was impossible to avoid the earnestness of her eyes.

Harden tried to answer. At last—let the past be, Molly, he pleaded agitatedly. "It's over and done with; we are married, you and I. For God's sake don't let us start life like this."

She hardly heard him. It seemed as if the suspicion that had lain dormant in her heart for weeks had sprung suddenly to life and real existence. A hundred little incidents which had passed almost unnoticed came crowding back to her—that day in the woods when she had found Lilith and John together; the afternoon when she had seen him standing looking into Lilith's garden with such cold eyes; the night when he had come from Lilith's house and passed her at the gate. She had been a fool not to guess before—a fool!

He misunderstood her silence. He thought he had convinced her that everything was well. He tried to draw her to him; but she resisted fiercely.

"Oh, leave me alone—leave me alone!" She hid her face in her hands; she was thinking fast—desperately. She felt as if an all-enveloping cloud had suddenly descended upon her, shutting out the sunshine. Harden had loved Lilith—loved her still. Beyond that fact she could see nothing, realize nothing; but it was there before her mind like a flaming sword.

He had married her for some reason of his own, not in the least because he cared for her; not in the least because he had wished to have her for his own.

Harden touched her arm. "Molly, we are just at the hotel." "I want to go home; let me go home. I can't stay with you. I must go home."

His face hardened. He frowned. "You're talking nonsense," he said roughly. "Please remember that you are my wife. I will talk to you directly. Please be sensible."

But Molly was past reasoning with him. She realized that it was not so much the telegram as his reception of it that had roused the stinging suspicion in her heart. She followed him into the hotel mechanically. She stood by in the big lounge while a porter brought in their luggage.

Then Harden spoke again, and she looked up at him with a new light in her eyes. He seemed to hang like a weight on her finger.

She went over to the window of the room into which she had been shown and looked out into the street. It was a quiet, ugly street, with rows of houses that all looked alike; their high roofs shut out most of the sky, and gave everything a dreary aspect.

Harden came into the room behind her. He closed the door and followed her to the window.

"Molly," he began. She turned. He was looking at her anxiously. "Well," he said with a smile. "What am I to say to be forgiven? What can I do to convince you that there is nothing so very terrible in my life after all?"

The banter of his voice hurt her. She understood now that he had always treated her as a child, never as a woman! She had grown very wise during the last hour.

buy her all the frocks and pretty things she wanted; and so—so she threw me over."

He stopped, and for some moments there was silence. Then he began once more.

"I never saw her from the day she sent me away till I met her with you in Little Hopson, when you were looking over the house next yours. You must have seen that the meeting was not a happy one for me."

Molly made a little convulsive movement. She knew she had been blind—miserably blind not to have guessed then.

"Meeting her like that," Harden went on with difficulty, "reopened all the old sores. I—I suppose I cared for her more than she ever cared for me; at any rate, when I saw her again I knew that I had never really forgotten."

Molly's hand was torn suddenly from his. She lifted her head and looked at him with wild eyes.

"And you never cared for me; you just made use of me. Oh, why didn't I guess? Why didn't I guess?"

Give Mother a Vacation

By EMILIE HOFFMAN.

Many households the mother is the one member of the family who is overlooked when it comes to a vacation. This devoted individual never seems to find a convenient time to get away. She must sew for the girls and assist them in getting ready for their vacation; then she cannot leave the boys, who must find a good dinner awaiting them after work; there would be no one to put up the lunches and do the washing of the indigestion that would surely follow a restaurant diet; Tom would never get to work on time if mother was not there to awaken him, and so on, one excuse after another.

A mother so intensely interested in the welfare of her family would not enjoy a vacation anywhere unless she had her family with her, but why not give her a vacation at home?

Any mother who serves her family so faithfully throughout the year deserves their consideration during the warm summer time. It may mean a little sacrifice on their part, but this would be merely a just compensation for the many sacrifices she is continually making, and if mother went on a real vacation the home comforts would be materially lessened.

Why not appreciate this? In the first place, see that mother's work is reduced to the minimum. Insist upon her turning the entire family washing and ironing into other hands. If she cannot be persuaded to do this with the help of some mothers, tell her you will make a picnic of the summer meals; buy one of those prettily decorated daily sets or a tablecloth that need just be wiped clean with a damp cloth after each meal. Use paper napkins—those of heavy linen texture with hemstitched edges are really good looking and serviceable.

One housewife who considers herself during the hot weather has installed paper towels for ordinary use. In this way she has only the bath towels in the weekly wash, and these do not require ironing. By eliminating the table linen and the hand towels the laundry work is considerably reduced.

Assure the good woman you do not care for home-baked bread, pies and cakes during the summer and that you prefer light desserts. Urge her to serve fresh fruits and tell her you would like ice cream for dessert once a week. This will mean at least one hour's work less each day, to say nothing of the less discomfort of a hot kitchen that she will be spared.

If you want hot meals in the summer, why not buy a fireless cooker for mother? If she cannot find a woman to release her from the weekly cleaning, a vacuum cleaner will help greatly.

Of course, this will mean extra expense, but is not your own vacation an extra expense? This is a necessity to you? Well, how about mother, who puts in 52 weeks every year at faithful and unselfish service? Would it not be a good idea to give her some relaxation during the warm weather—just to show you appreciate her service?

Help her in every way to make these weeks easy for her and it will do her as much good as a going-away vacation. It means a financial strain? Well, maybe, but a good mother is worth it.

What if mother said, "I don't want to go away, I like home better than anywhere else?"

"Ducks!" exclaimed Reddy under his breath. "Ducks!" Farmer Brown's Boy has Ducks this year! He has Ducks, and I didn't know it until now."

But aloud Reddy said nothing at all, for the two young Foxes were doing exactly what he was doing, listening to that strange sound which the Merry Little Breeze had brought. You see, when they were out with their father they did exactly as he did. That is the way little Foxes learn. When Reddy stopped they stopped. When he listened they listened. When he sniffed the air they sniffed the air.

"What is that sound?" asked one of the little Foxes.

Reddy Fox Hears an Unexpected Sound

By Thornton W. Burgess

Be wise and turn a deafened ear. To sounds "twere better not hear."

Reddy Fox was down on the Green Meadows, catching grasshoppers. With him were two of his half-grown children, the other two being off with Mrs. Reddy. It was a long time since Reddy had been near Farmer Brown's barnyard. You see, now that he had children to look out for, Reddy was careful not to get into trouble. Besides, food was plentiful. Just now it was grasshopper time and there was no excuse for going hungry. If Farmer Brown's Boy could have seen Reddy and those two young Foxes catching grasshoppers it would have done his heart good. You see, there are times when Reddy really does do a great deal of good and one of those times is when the grasshoppers come. Grasshoppers eat the crops.

Now, it just happened that as Reddy was busy catching grasshoppers a Merry Little Breeze came dancing along from the direction of Farmer Brown's barnyard and it brought with it a sound that made Reddy prick up his sharp-pointed black ears. He forgot all about grasshoppers as he lifted his head to listen. Slowly a grin crept over his crafty face.

"Quack, quack, quack, quack," was what Reddy heard. It was faint but clear. It was a long, long time since Reddy had heard that sound.

But aloud Reddy said nothing at all, for the two young Foxes were doing exactly what he was doing, listening to that strange sound which the Merry Little Breeze had brought. You see, when they were out with their father they did exactly as he did. That is the way little Foxes learn. When Reddy stopped they stopped. When he listened they listened. When he sniffed the air they sniffed the air.

"What is that sound?" asked one of the little Foxes.

LONDON SOCIETY WOMEN NOTED FOR BEAUTY

Center—Miss Lita Jungman, a striking type of beauty, and very popular leader in the social world of London.
Right—Miss Violet Raphael, one of the noted beauties of London, a leader in the society of London this season.

Fashion News Notes

PARIS—There is a vogue at the moment for sunflowers. This splashy decoration is most effective when carried out in some such material as georgette combined with patent leather. On a white georgette dress, for example, there are large sunflowers of orange georgette with centers of black patent leather. A sunflower holds the sash on the right side of the normal waist line. Other sunflowers form an epaulette effect on the shoulders.

PARIS—For the organdie gown which is so great a favorite this season, the modistes have invented a novel decoration. This is a tightly plaited rosette of the same material and shade as the gown, with a single big bead, of a contrasting color, in the center. These rosettes are lavishly used. There may be a circle of them around the skirt above the hem, and a double line about the waist, while other festoons or scrolls of the rosettes are posed at the neckline.

LONDON—London women have discovered that the expensive crocodile and lizard skin shoes are not only smart but also economical in the long run. They last for several seasons, and have the added attraction of being almost impossible to imitate in cheaper material so that they remain in some degree "exclusive." The laced shoe, to which English women cling so long, is not a favor now, though most London women insist on a shoe with a strap over the instep, especially for walking on pavements.

NEW YORK—In all the extraordinary color combinations of the season, none is more queer than that of flame and brown. There is a certain orange tinge to flame which makes it harmonize well enough with nearly any shade of brown, but to combine the two was unheard of until a local shop displayed a sweater of the Batik type. From the neck to the middle of both front and back the slip-on was done in shades of brown, rose and flame, ending in a wide band of flame. Below this the shading went from flame to rose and thence to brown shades ending in sand. The effect was very lovely.

NEW YORK—So much attention has been paid this season to the silk dress-slips for wear under crepe de chine and georgettes that the lingerie dress-slip has been a bit neglected. Many women, however, prefer a nainsook or linen dress-slip beneath a gingham or cotton voile frock. For such women there are cool slips in white and colors. It is smart to work one's initials in a pastel shade on the front of a white lingerie slip.

NEW YORK—Although the bateau neckline persists in models for early fall, there is sometimes a slight difference which distinguishes it from the earlier bateau. The front of the neckline is likely to be the top of a flat, wide panel, running the entire length of the skirt. Across the top of the panel are narrow folds of the goods, giving a rather braided effect. These folds are carried out also on the sides of the panel and around the sleeves.

PARIS—While the supremacy of the enormous hat is still unquestioned, there is a new type of small hat for those who dislike large brims. The small hat, worn by elderly rather than by youthful women, is a jaunty little affair of black timbor straw which belongs to the toque species. It is set slightly at one side, and its only decoration is a large, floppy rose of ribbon at the right side of the crown.

NEW YORK—It is not necessary to wear a stocking of plain blue or white with a blue and white sports costume. There are very pretty stockings of blue flecked with white, which are suitable for wear with a white skirt and blue sweater. Yellow flecked with white, purple flecked with black, black flecked with white and vice versa, are some of the other combinations in this effective silk hosiery.

When I Am Weary
By Sophie Irene Loeb

WHEN I am weary,
And the four walls of my humble room
And the world seems all huddled in a corner,
On the topmost floor seem all too crowded With beckoning ghosts of the might-have-been,
And the soul of me rebels
At the sordidness of routine in my daily grind;
When the Tenth Commandment is everlastingly broken in my mind,
As I long for that which I cannot have;
When the future stands stark and empty before me,
And there seems nothing left on which to hang a hope,
And the demon of despair is everywhere,
It is then that I rush away into some green space
And begin to sort out the serenities that are ever present—
The blade of grass, which can no more be explained
Than the heavens or the stars,
And which grows before me and carries out its destiny,
I hear the sighing of the wind
And know that some force that I cannot understand Is sending it for some reason, some purpose
The song of the bird in its call to its mate Has found the joy of life which seemingly
I have missed for the moment.
And I look up into the sky,
That large dome full of other worlds,
The moon in her most mellow mood
For centuries has looked down at pygmies like me
And smiled at my smallness,
And all about me nature cries out
That it is all there for ME as much as any one
And I feel myself rich, rich as he who has his coffers full, Because these sights and these sounds and these spiritual things Are for me, a pauper with one room,
As well as for him, the peer, who lives in a palace
And my fears leave and there comes to me
The peace that comes with understanding.
For I am one of the universe and therefore I am to play my part, not with cowardice, but with courage
And I go back with one song singing in my heart,
The song of all songs—
The song of Life—mine to make or mar.
To bring it into the chord—the dominant chord
Of achievement and happiness, even in a humble way,
As against the discord and despondency and distress of dissatisfaction,
And I lie down to sleep, my weariness gone,
For somehow I have come in touch with the Infinite.

an Unexpected Sound

ton W. Burgess

—Reddy Fox—
"It is a sound that young Reddy shouldn't listen to," replied gravely. "It is a sound that tends to keep young Reddy in trouble."

"Oh! said the little Fox, 'it isn't a good sound, is it?'"
"No-o," replied Reddy, though in his heart he thought was the best sound he had ever heard."

"What is that sound?" asked the little foxes. for a long, long time. "No, it's a good sound. At least it's a good sound for little Foxes to hear. Whenever you hear that sound it comes from the barnyard. Now let me see how you are at catching grasshoppers. Of course, the little Foxes are great deal more interested in their little stomachs than in listening to the sound which they said was not good for them and soon they were pouncing and left as they tried to catch lively grasshoppers.

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women

How Lucretia's Brave Deed Roused Rome to Win Freedom

LIKE Virginia, who, when a child, saved the Roman Republic by the example of her bravery, Lucretia holds a high place in the history of Rome and her name is held in reverent esteem by the people of her native country.

This beautiful and high-born woman was the wife of Tarquinius Collatinus, the nephew of Tarquinius Superbus, the last King of Rome, about 200 B. C.

One day at a feast at which the King's sons and Collatinus were present the conversation turned to women and a dispute arose between the young men about the virtue of their wives. They determined to decide the argument by riding off together and paying surprise visits to them how the coward had mistreated her.

When the two men whom she loved promised upon their honor to avenge Lucretia, she plunged a sword into her heart and died. Thus another Roman woman was sacrificed in order that the men of Rome might be awakened to a sense of their neglect as husbands and fathers, to bring about conditions which would make Rome a safe place in which to live.

The Romans were so moved by the act of the brave wife that a new era was opened up in their history. They cut pineapples in dice and mix with orange and grapefruit. Stir in sugar and cherries carefully. Chill and serve ice cold in sherbet cups.

FRUIT CUP
ONE grapefruit, one orange, one small can of pineapple or one small fresh pineapple, small bottle maraschino cherries, one to two tablespoons powdered sugar.
Cut grapefruit and orange in half and remove pulp with a spoon, keeping the pieces as whole as possible. Cut pineapple in dice and mix with orange and grapefruit. Stir in sugar and cherries carefully. Chill and serve ice cold in sherbet cups.

You'll hear a lot about BLUE GOOSE

You'll hear friends praising the most palate-delighting fruit they have eaten—and hear them say, "It was BLUE GOOSE."

Dealers will point out this nationally talked-about trade-mark on baskets, boxes and crates of vegetables to assure you that it is sure to be good, because it is BLUE GOOSE.

BLUE GOOSE is a mark of flavor, purity and wholesomeness; qualities grown into the fruit and vegetables in rich farming districts all over the country. Picking, packing, grading and shipping—these, too, are under the watchful eye of American Fruit Growers Inc. BLUE GOOSE is our O. K. mark.

All year round you'll find BLUE GOOSE fruits and vegetables on the market at reasonable prices. It is worth while to be sure you get BLUE GOOSE.

THE PUNCH.

TELL me not in prose or poem
That the Mackmen cannot hit;
Pitchers who have tried to show 'em Seldom got away with it.

Quite regardless of expenses,
With their potent hickory mauls,
They have battered down the fences
And have ruined many balls.

Though they may not win the pennant
Or in first division stand, Though they be the cellar tenant,
On that pellet they can land.

When the tribe of Connie sock 'er
You can hear the loud impact;
Ask our old friend, Urban Shocker,
If above is not a fact.

SPREADING THE FEAST FOR THE STRANGER

When Sam Blythe was a Washington correspondent he went into New England to sound out public opinion on one or another of those crises which, politically speaking, are forever threatening the liberties of the American people. I forget now just what particular crisis it was, but, at any rate, for the moment it was of deep concern to the public at large and Sam's job was to get a slant on the prevalent sentiment in certain states.

Among others, he called upon the retired political leader of New Hampshire, who lived in a small but comfortable cottage in a little town. The old gentleman felt a deep concern in the vital question of the hour, whatever it was. He argued and he expounded, and he produced documents in support of his views. Noontime approached and still he was nowhere near through with what he had to say. So he insisted that Blythe should remain with him through the afternoon.

Having sampled the cuisine of the local hotel at breakfast, Blythe promptly consented. The old gentleman excused himself in order to inform his wife that there would be a guest for the midday meal and also to get some important papers bearing on the subject under discussion which were stored away, he said, in a room upstairs. Going out, he left the parlor door ajar.

Through the opening Blythe heard a voice, evidently one belonging to the mistress of the household.

"Samantha," the lady said, raising her tone in order that she might be heard by the cook in the kitchen, "my husband has invited a gentleman to stay for dinner. Take those two large potatoes back down cellar and bring up three small ones."
